Minister's Time Not To Be Wasted By Contractors

Major Hahn Tells Bren Inquiry Why He Dealt With Defence Deputy Letter Quoted

OTTAWA (CP)—Major James E. Hahn told the Davis commission today he had been told Hon. Ian Mackenzie, Minister of Defence, "did not look kindly" on being bothered directly by contractors.

The president of the John Inglis Company of Toronto was explaining why he had not negotiated with the minister for the order for 7,000 Bren machine guns awarded his firm by the Defence Department last March.

Major Hahn was under cross-examination by I. F. Hellmuth, K.C., Toronto, counsel for Maclean's Magazine.

Mr. Hellmuth produced a letter from Major Hahn to Maj. Gen. L. R. LaFleche, deputy minister of defence, and passed by the latter to his minister, May 6, 1937, when all three were in London. The letter described the background and potentialities of the Inglis plant.

Mr. Hellmuth asked the witness why he had not discussed these matters directly with the minister.

"I suggested that to General LaFleche," the witness said, "but understood him to say the minister did not look kindly upon being bothered directly by contractors."

China Will Fight On, Says Chiang

Decisive Battle With Japanese Planned West of Present Line

HONGKONG (AP)—A central News Agency (Chinese) dispatch from Chungking Friday said Gen. Chiang Kai-shek had declared China would fight on, and that "a decisive battle" between a united China and the Japanese army would be fought west of the present area of Japanese conquest.

The dispatch quoted a telegram sent by the Chinese leader—presumably from new headquarters somewhere west of fallen Hankow—to the people's central political council at Chungking, provisional capital.

Gen. Chiang's telegram reaffirmed China's decision to continue resistance until a victory is achieved. It discounted the loss of Canton and Hankow, and said Japan's "desperate invasion of south China was prompted by realization of the danger of exhaustion of her strength."

It was said the "decisive battle" would be fought west of the Canton-Hankow and Peiping-Hankow railways—both partially in Japan's possession—according to a carefully prepared Chinese plan.

Chinese reported a general counter-offensive was developing northeast of Canton, occupied by Japanese last week.

HALLOWEEN PARTIES

Anglo-Japanese Talks to Set New Balance in Asia

British Envoy's Tokyo Conference May Greatly Affect Future Called Final Attempt

TOKIO (CP-Havas)—Anglo-Japanese talks were resumed here Friday in what well-informed sources termed a "supreme effort" to lay the basis for an understanding between the two countries.

Sir Robert Craigie, British ambassador, conferred for an hour with Renzo Sawada, the new vice-foreign minister. Their talk was described in these circles as a resumption of the parleys begun by Sir Robert and General Kazushige Ugaki, former foreign minister.

This development overshadowed others in a crowded diplomatic day which included a sharp Japanese protest to France over alleged arms transit through Indo-China and the drafting of Japan's reply to Washington's protest in the closing of the open door in North China and Manchuria.

FUTURE OF ASIA

Great stakes are on the table in the Anglo-Japanese talks which have had such a fluctuating career in the last few months. The departure of General Ugaki from the foreign ministry was generally interpreted as the triumph of anti-British elements in Japanese government circles.

But now, if sources close to the government are to be credited, a final attempt is being made to see if Great Britain and Japan can come to terms about the future of their respective positions in Asia.

Should these talks break down again, it was said, Premier Fumimaro Konoye would in all probability abandon the foreign affairs portfolio he now temporarily holds. A complete reorientation of Japanese foreign policy might then ensue.

That is why interested observers appear to attach more importance to the talks with the British envoy than to the Washington note on the open door policy.

FEAR ANGLO-U.S. UNION

The one thing Japanese do fear is the emergence of an Anglo-American united front in the Far East. But so far they claim to see no signs of such a development. The United States note was interpreted here as designed primarily for American home consumption in connection with Washington's rearmament program.

Nevertheless the resumption of diplomatic activity both by London and Washington was contrived to coincide with the prospect of other important developments. These include Anglo-German recognition of some new centralized, Japanese-sponsored regime in China, it was held.

FIRE MENACE IN ALBERTA EASES

EDMONTON (CP)—Bush fires whipped by a high wind destroyed two barns and two granaries Thursday near Thorhild, 45 miles northeast of Edmonton, but fire menace generally throughout north-central Alberta had been reduced today by falling winds and the dogged efforts of hundreds of fighters.

Valuable timber in the Mystery Lake area, 70 miles northwest of here, was believed out of danger today after two weeks of fires a few miles away.

Wolf Packs Kill Cattle

WILLIAMS LAKE, B.C. (CP)—From the Anahim Lake district, 200 miles northwest of here, come reports of packs of stock-killing wolves, lean from hunger, which are causing consternation among the ranchers.

The vicious beasts are said to be moving in on ranch livestock in a series of destructive raids.

Rev. Father John W. Hennessy, who has just completed a trip through this district, told here of seeing a small band of wolves chasing down a moose. The priest declared wolves run

ON SIDELINES—Among the most interested observers as conversations for new British-Japanese relations are carried on in Tokyo is Gen. K. Ugaki (above), who resigned a couple of months ago as Foreign Minister of Japan.

Blunt Japanese Note to France

Paris Denies Arms Sent Across Indo-China To Chinese Armies

TOKIO (CP)—Japan sharply warned France Friday to close the borders of Indo-China to arms shipments destined for use by the Chinese army.

Domei (Japanese news agency) said blunt language was used in Japan's formal protest, including a threat "to take adequate measures of self-defence, failing compliance by the French government with the Japanese request that she take effective steps to stop the transit of arms and ammunition for China through French Indo-China."

One such measure, it was hinted, might be immediate occupation of Hainan, the island off south China which strategically dominates the French Gulf of Tonkin. The Foreign Office spokesman declined to say whether such occupation would take place, but did say it would constitute no violation of the Franco-Japanese treaty of 1906.

ROAD TRANSPORT

France was reminded of previous promises to close the Indo-China border to arms shipments. Should that source of supplies be cut off, the Chinese government would be solely dependent on the lengthy and uncertain road connection with British Burma and with the trail to the Soviet Union through Turkistan.

The Foreign Office statement on Franco-Japanese relations said Premier Konoye had reminded Ambassador Henry that France some months ago had proposed voluntarily to halt the flow of munitions through Indo-China, but the Premier said, France failed to do this and twice thereafter Japan asked her "to reconsider."

"Reliable information shows," the statement continued, "that the most important route left for transportation of arms to Chiang (China's generalissimo) is through French Indo-China, and China now is reported active there."

FRENCH DENIAL

PARIS (AP)—A Japanese formal protest to France against alleged shipments of arms to China through French Indo-China today brought a denial such a traffic existed.

The Foreign Office expressed "surprise" that Japan again should protest. When Tokyo made similar accusations early this year, a spokesman said, it "was unable to substantiate them."

France and Reich May Sign Pact Renouncing War

Declaration Similar To Chamberlain-Hitler One Discussed Berlin Reports Hopes

PARIS (AP)—A Foreign Office spokesman disclosed today that France and Germany were considering a declaration renouncing war with each other similar to that signed by Chancellor Hitler and Prime Minister Chamberlain at Munich.

Such a declaration was said to be only one of several projects being discussed in diplomatic negotiations. Premier Edouard Daladier said yesterday he hoped this would lead to a Franco-German understanding.

Usually well informed circles expected the proposed French-German declaration against war would be somewhat fuller than the British-German statement.

HOPES IN BERLIN

BERLIN (AP)—Strong hopes were expressed in quarters close to the German government today that Germany and France would reach an early accord along the general lines of the Anglo-German anti-war declaration signed by Chancellor Hitler and Prime Minister Chamberlain at Munich September 30.

NAZIS SAY U.S. ENCUMBRANCE

Foreign Office Paper States European Conciliation Hampered

BERLIN (AP)—The German Foreign Office mouthpiece, Deutsche Diplomatische-Politische Korrespondenz, today accused the United States of being "an encumbrance to European conciliation efforts" since the peace of Munich.

In a bitter attack on "American meddling in European affairs," the publication said: "It already has gone so far that authorized English sources have found it necessary, in the face of American objection, to justify the conduct of western European powers."

The attack apparently was prompted by President Roosevelt's Wednesday night address against "peace by fear." The Nazi press has treated the speech with derision.

"It appears more and more the intention (in America) to lay down the law to European countries on how a state of peace is possible for them and how it is not possible," the publication declared.

MUSSOLINI SAYS HORIZON CLEARING

On Anniversary of Rome March, He Sees Brighter Political Future

ROME (AP)—Premier Mussolini told Fascists celebrating the 16th anniversary of the march on Rome today that "the political horizon is clearing" with promise of further improvement.

"The clearing of the political horizon is becoming accentuated and is continually becoming more vast and promising," Il Duce declared before crowds massed under his balcony in the Piazza di Venezia. "But we Fascists continue and will continue to march with the same inflexible energy with which we marched on the eve of that never-to-be-forgotten October."

Foreign hearers regarded the Premier's few words as his interpretation of the European situation since the four-power Munich accord, which was followed by French recognition of Italian domination in Ethiopia, the withdrawal of 10,000 Italian troops from the Spanish civil war and the reported British decision to re-establish normal relations with Italy.

As Mussolini spoke his foreign minister, Count Galeazzo Ciano, was in conference with German Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop on the attitude of the Rome-Berlin axis on outstanding European problems, among them Hungary's territorial claims on Czechoslovakia.

LUNENBURG TO GREET BLUENOSE

Town Council Makes Plans for Capt. Walters And His Crew

LUNENBURG, N.S. (CP)—The town council is planning to celebrate the arrival of the Bluenose, international schooner racing champion which vanquished the Gertrude L. Thebaud of Gloucester, Mass. Captain Angus Walters and his famous schooner and its crew are expected to arrive in their home port late Monday or early Tuesday.

A half-holiday will be declared for school children.

REBELS HUNTED IN PALESTINE

British Soldiers Look For Arabs Who Wounded Tiberias Mayor

JERUSALEM (CP-Havas)—Police and soldiers today searched for rebels who yesterday seriously wounded the Jewish mayor of Tiberias, Azki al Khadaf.

While curfew regulations were in effect last night a careful search was made of the entire town, but no evidence was found.

Arab insurgents suffered heavy losses in northern Palestine yesterday as British military action was continued. Among those killed was the Arab poet and rebel chief, Nureddin Ibrahim Abdullah.

A permanent curfew was ordered for the district within a radius of 1,700 feet of the military airport at Ramleh.

Six British soldiers were wounded yesterday by the explosion of a land mine under an army truck on Sharon Plain.

School Holiday Till January 1

Dayton, Ohio, Board Bankrupt, So Children Sent Home

DAYTON, O. (AP)—Thirty-four thousand boys and girls went to school today for the last time before a holiday which may last until the new year.

Parents and school officials admitted there was no way to prevent closing of schools after today's sessions because the city school treasury is empty and there is, besides, a $61,000 deficit.

Among older students the reaction was one of dismay. Younger ones chanted: "No more pencils. No more books." Parents and police wondered how to keep them busy and off the streets of this industrial city of 217,000.

The city meanwhile faced a stone wall. With no possibility of obtaining state aid immediately, with possible revenue from a proposed two mill $500,000 levy on the November 8 ballots unavailable this year even if approved, and with real estate tax funds unavailable until next month, all authorities agreed the holiday was inevitable.

Injunction on Air Advertising

VANCOUVER (CP)—At the suit of the Chiropractors' Association of B.C. Mr. Justice Manson in Supreme Court today granted an injunction restraining A. E. Harper, chiropractor, and Clem Davies from advertising Harper's name, in connection with his business as a chiropractor, over the radio.

The injunction will continue until November 4.

J. S. Barton appeared for the plaintiff.

U.S. Power Firms Aid Defence On Great Scale

Group Plans $2,000,000,000 Outlay in Two Years Munitions Step-up

WASHINGTON (AP)—A dozen big United States utility companies, joining hands with the federal government in its national defence program, disclosed today they would spend $2,000,000,000 in the next two years to expand the output of electric power.

This amount, said Floyd L. Carlisle of the Consolidated Edison Company of New York, would virtually double present such expenditures.

As the first step, the utilities announced "definite commitments" for enough factory orders to supply generating equipment capable of producing 1,000,000 kilowatts.

The commitments were given as a part of the administration's efforts to strengthen power facilities of the nation's strategic war material manufacturing centres.

Announcement of the program came from a session of the national defence power committee, headed by Louis Johnson, assistant secretary of war, which has been making a survey of power needs since early this year.

LOANS PLANNED

Carlisle, acting as spokesman for the group of utilities executives which met with the power committee, said "substantial" government financing was involved, but would not be in the form of grants.

"The government, he said, would 'do nothing more than lend money or buy securities, in the same manner as a bank.'"

Stressing that the commitments were "not the final step," Johnson indicated the administration hoped other utilities would agree shortly to enter the expansion program.

The areas directly affected by the projected construction are in part those in which the production of munitions and other war materials would be in great demand in event of hostilities, a War Department announcement said.

Some of them were listed as Baltimore-Washington, Birmingham, Boston, Bridgeport, Buffalo, Niagara Falls, Chicago, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Detroit, New York, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Rochester, St. Louis and Schenectady.

ALBERTA FARM DEBTS EASED

Aberhart Says $4,510,590 To Be Canceled

EDMONTON (CP)—Action to cancel $4,510,590.33 in agricultural advances to farmers in Alberta between 1917 and 1922 was announced today by Premier Aberhart along with indication further cancellations might be made in drought area.

Premier Aberhart disclosed the $4,510,590.33 was the amount now outstanding on the 1917-22 advances. Of that amount, $688,850.97 represented a joint liability of the Dominion and the province on a 50-50 basis.

The province is now awaiting word from the Dominion Government on the cancellation of its share of the $688,850.97, but the formalities for canceling the balance in which the Dominion is not interested—$3,821,739.36—have been made.

Straw Vote For Volunteers

LONDON (CP-Havas)—A slight margin in favor of voluntary recruiting of Britain's armed forces over conscription was shown in the result of a London Daily Mail poll, published today. There were 102,644 votes—51,511 favoring the voluntary system and 51,133 favoring conscription, giving a majority of 378 to the voluntary method.

Recalling that the poll was started during the European crisis over Czechoslovakia, Viscount Rothermere's newspaper explained the results as follows: "On the first day, while tension was at its height, voting in favor of compulsory service was almost six to one. As the war clouds

No Prosecutions Of Gas Dealers

PRICE WAR SEEN IN GAS DISPUTE

Some Vancouver Stations Cut Prices Below Board's Level

VANCOUVER (CP)—Possibility that a price war among retailers may arise as a result of the dispute between the government and oil companies was foreseen today as some dealers began cutting prices to below the level set by the coal and petroleum board.

The "war" so far affects large independent dealers only and only those selling other services besides gasoline.

"We are selling at 23 cents a gallon," one firm said through its spokesman. "Others have cut prices and it is our policy always to sell a cent below."

The spokesman for another firm said his company was selling for 24 cents a gallon.

"Other firms are doing it, selling at 24 and 26 cents. Some have been selling since 9.30 a.m. The difference between us and them is that we put up a sign stating our price; they don't," he added.

Fire Destroys Burbank Records

Late Plant Wizard's Apartment in California Razed

SANTA ROSA, Calif. (AP)—Luther Burbank's widow today tried to tabulate the damage left by a fire, which started in an apartment last occupied by Wilbur Hall in writing "The Harvest of the Years," a biography of the "plant wizard."

Gone were priceless records of Burbank's experiments into the transformation of plants—experiments which resulted in revolutionary crop changes, new flowers and new vegetables. Gone too were valuable paintings he had collected and gone was the two-story barn which housed the apartment and in which the records and paintings had been stored.

The "Glass House," conservatory which has become a Santa Rosa shrine because it was used by Burbank in many of his experiments, was badly damaged by falling debris.

Santa Rosa Firemen, watched by thousands, saved the Burbank home, which the widow, Mrs. Elizabeth Waters Burbank, has modernized since her husband's death.

Thumb-printing For Transients

Thumb-printing has been instituted by B.C. relief authorities as a means of checking up on transient unemployed seeking relief.

The practice was started, it was learned today, to prevent men giving false information about themselves in order to get relief.

By keeping a thumb-print index as well as other facts about men, the officials are able to tell whether a man is giving the correct data about himself.

Certain classes of men are not eligible for relief and relief authorities say that to get themselves eligible for assistance men will give wrong names and other misleading information.

Thumb-printing, the officials hope, will halt this practice.

But Public to Benefit By Cut, Premier Says Await Decision

The provincial government will not prosecute retail gasoline operators for selling above the price fixed by government order while the present injunction holds, but the moment the injunction is lifted gas prices will come down.

However, the government believes the new gas prices are lawful now and if it wins the present action will see to it that the public gets the benefit as from last Wednesday when the prices were fixed.

These two points were made in a statement today by Premier Pattullo but he did not explain how the government would get retroactive benefits for the public if the order is made valid.

The Premier's announcement, which followed on Mr. Justice Manson's action yesterday afternoon in continuing the injunction until the beginning of next week, reads as follows:

"The government appreciates the position in which retailers of gasoline find themselves as a result of the pending injunction proceedings.

"As the matter has assumed a position beyond the control of the retailers, I think it is only fair to assure them that the government does not propose to undertake any prosecution during the continuance of the injunction granted by Mr. Justice Manson."

"It was never intended that the retail distributors of gasoline should be forced by the oil companies to shoulder the whole burden of the decrease in price."

"The injunction meantime prevents the board from taking any further immediate action."

"The government, however, takes the position that in law the sale price of gasoline is as set out in the order of the board, and proposes, if successful in the injunction proceedings, to endeavor to see to it that the cut in price shall inure to the benefit of the public from the date when the order of the board was made."

The statement was interpreted by some observers to mean that gas stations which have customers on charge accounts could supply them with gas without naming the price, as some stations in Vancouver are already doing, and then bill them when the price issue is settled. Cash customers, if they keep their receipts, would presumably be able to recover the three cents difference at a later date.

The government's intention, it was learned, is to insist on enforcement of the new gas prices as soon as it gets a favorable decision in any court. It will fight the injunction proceedings to the Privy Council if necessary.

R. R. Taylor, spokesman for the retailers in the city, said this morning the operators were hoping to join a Vancouver delegation in a conference with Dr. W. A. Carrothers, fuel commissioner, probably early next week.

Mr. Taylor said it was hoped the conference might be held on Monday, but that it was possible it might be postponed until after Mr. Justice Manson's decision on whether the validity of the fuel commission legislation should be referred to the courts.

DALADIER TESTS PARTIES' STRENGTH

MARSEILLES (AP)—Premier Edouard Daladier completed his break with the Communist Party today and warned Parliament that if it failed to approve reforms the government contemplates he would carry the issue direct to the voters.

At his request, the committee on general policy of his Radical Socialist Party approved a resolution, to be submitted to the party congress Saturday, saying the Communist Party "has excluded itself" from the Popular Front of Radical-Socialists, Socialists and Communists.

Parliament is to reconvene in November.

Faith Gone Says Maitland

Return to Sound Government and Give People Confidence, Conservative Leader Urges in Legislature; No Confidence Motion Defeated

An end of governmental experimentation and a return to stable legislation and stable finance was demanded by R. L. Maitland, K.C., new Conservative leader, when he launched the Opposition's attack on the government in the Throne Speech debate in the Legislature yesterday afternoon.

A want of confidence motion by the Opposition leader at the end of his address was defeated 29-16 on a straight party division, only the Liberals supporting the government.

Asserting that a change of policy was essential to restore faith of the people in their government and in democracy, Mr. Maitland charged the Pattullo administration with failure to do as well with its record $31,000,000 revenue as the Tolmie government did with only $19,000,000 in 1933.

As Hon. John Hart, Finance Minister, twitted him about the Tolmie record, Mr. Maitland shook his finger across the floor at the Treasury benches.

"As the new leader of the Conservative Party I'm starting from here forward. You can't stop me by talking about the past," he flashed back.

"What's more, I'll meet any member of this government any day of the week to debate about 1933. And before any impartial tribunal I'll beat back any argument they care to put up."

His only other interruption was from Hon. George S. Pearson, Minister of Labor, when he was quoting figures on the number of youths in forest camps.

"You've got the wrong figures," said Mr. Pearson.

"They're from the brief to the Rowell Commission," he retorted. "But that doesn't matter anyway. As I've said, the problem of our youth is the most tragic thing in this generation. In Quebec they are dealing with it. They voted $1,000,000 to handle it on a sensible plan."

"We're spending more than that," replied Mr. Pearson.

Mr. Maitland insisted that new policies in government were needed to regain the people's confidence.

"Democracy is fighting for its life throughout the world today, and our democratic ideals must not be lessened at this time."

"To get away from these ideals is to break down the faith in governments as we know it—and that is to open the door to those who would smash our ideals of constitutional government and substitute things which are foreign to our very thought."

"When you deny people the access to courts, for instance, you rob them of a right they have had for generations."

PARTY SYSTEM BEST

Declaring the party system of government best so long as it formed a means for people to get together to exchange political views and was not used for patronage purposes, Mr. Maitland called for an abandonment of the

"haphazard and unco-related manner of carrying on public affairs."

"Get away," he said, "from these crazy impractical schemes that have cost us millions. Experiment after experiment has been tried and ends in nothing but experimenting. Be practical and stable. Remove the mystery from government and let the people know what you're doing."

"When business never knows what it is going to suffer tomorrow; when it never knows what kind of an act is going to be brought in next, business becomes afraid."

"Take your time. Do the job well. Don't rush in with half-baked bills. Give business and the people confidence."

HELP FOR FARMERS

Mr. Maitland next turned his attention to the lot of the farmer.

He had no quarrel, he said, with the government's marketing legislation, but this was not enough. There was more to the problem.

He analyzed farm production, claiming that while other industries and provincial revenues were rising to new levels the agricultural output was still $12,000,000 below the 1929 total. British Columbia was importing such things as meat and cheese, which it could easily produce itself with the proper encouragement.

The government should do more for the fall fairs, which raise the standard of production, and encourage farmers' co-operatives where common problems could be settled.

And, although the province did not have direct control over tariffs and trade, it should give the lead in opposing any revision of the Empire agreements, in pressing for anti-dump duties and tariffs that would help the farmers.

Instead of worrying about political finesse or that it might injure the King government's feelings, the government should have ordered an investigation immediately into the Okanagan combines charges, he declared.

"If the charges should be proved, then the men who are racketeering the farmers would be punished. If not then they would be freed and the whole thing cleared up instead of this soft-pedaling around."

HIGHWAY COMMISSION

Demanding a non-partisan highway commission, which he promised the Conservatives would establish, he demanded an open public tender system for contracts.

"Do away with factions or circles of friends for public tendering," he said.

Sir Robert Borden's Life Story

Laurier Would Have Joined Union Cabinet in 1917 if He Had Been 10 Years Younger, Say Memoirs of Wartime Prime MinisterBy R. K. CARNEGIE (Copyright, 1938, by Canadian Press)OTTAWA.
HAD SIR WILFRID LAURIER been 10 or 15 years younger when the Union Government was formed in 1917 he would have entered it, believed the late Sir Robert Borden, leader of that government. In his memoirs, Sir Robert wrote he was convinced
Laurier would have supported Laurier had he joined the Great War coalition cabinet.An interesting feature of the memoirs, to be published November 1 by the Macmillan Company of Canada, is the evident candor with which Borden assessed the attributes of leaders with whom he came in contact. He was unflinching in praise of Sir Wilfrid."Sir Wilfrid Laurier was then in his 78th year," he wrote of his efforts to have the Liberal leader join the Union Government. "If he had been 10 or 15 years younger, I am confident he would have entered the proposed coalition. He held an unrivaled position in the affection and reverence of the French-Canadians; and he was convinced that he would lose this pre-eminence if he should commit himself to a policy of compulsory military service. I am convinced that he underrated his influence and that Quebec would have followed where he led.

WATCHED BOURASSA

"But in addition to the personal motive, there was, I believe, a higher influence. The prestige of Mr. (Henri) Bourassa, not then perhaps at its highest point, was still sufficiently powerful to arouse in Sir Wilfrid's mind a grave apprehension as to the effect of violent propaganda led by his former follower. Not only on this but on previous occasions, in intimate conversation with Sir Wilfrid I concluded that he regarded Mr. Bourassa's teaching as inimical not only to the spirit of Canadian unity but to the best interests of the province of Quebec. Thus, an instinct of patriotism led Sir Wilfrid to believe that, in view of the considerations which I have merely outlined, his duty was to stand apart from the proposed coalition.""I venture to believe," again he wrote of Sir Wilfrid, "that as leader of the two political parties
Sir Wilfrid and I had no inconsiderable influence in lessening the virulence and increasing the amenities of political strife."
"No Canadian statesman was ever inspired by a higher sense of the dignity of Parliament than Sir Wilfrid and in no degree did he permit his responsibility to be interfered with by party animus."Of Premier Asquith he said:
"Although he was not an ideal prime minister in the awful stress of war, yet his wide experience, his knowledge of European conditions, his judicial temperament and his broad outlook would, in my opinion, have rendered him of invaluable assistance in the peace negotiations."
Admiration is expressed in the memoirs for Lloyd George, who succeeded Asquith as Prime Minister of Great Britain.

PRAISE FOR CURRIE

Borden regarded Sir Arthur
Currie as the greatest corps commander of the British army.
Several pages are devoted to Borden's difficulties with Sir
Sam Hughes, war-time Minister of Militia, and he wrote frankly of his relations with the Duke of Connaught, Governor-General from 1911 to 1916.Undoubtedly Sir Sam showed great ability in organization of the First Contingent, but many complaints from offended people came to Borden. The Prime Minister reproved Hughes "for insolent language" to the Duke of Connaught. "Hughes was much cut up and when I spoke to him in the afternoon over the telephone he broke down and wept," Sir Robert wrote."There was difficulty during the year (1915) in keeping Hughes down to mere administration of his department. . . .
Like other very able men with whom I have been associated, he was incapable of forming a just estimate of certain favorites who were able to appeal to him, often through the medium of his excessive vanity. Equally, he was incapable of giving just consideration to other men capable and worthy whose attitude and outlook did not happen to appeal to him. . . .During 1915 he traveled extensively. He was extremely fond of military parade and liked to attend reviews in different parts of the country. . . . He especially liked to cross the Atlantic for the supposed purpose of investigating and improving conditions in Great Britain and France. . . .

CONSIDERED COMMAND

"He discussed from time to time the proposal that he shouldtake military command in France. The idea was congenial to him, although I doubt whether he would have had a successful career; but he was unwilling to relinquish his powers as Minister of Militia and to hold an important military appointment at the front would have been the ideal situation as far as his outlook was concerned. . . ."Undoubtedly he was a man of great ability. During this period excellent military camps were being established, enlistments were satisfactory, and military aviation in Canada had its beginning."The memoirs tell of quarrels Sir Sam had with other colleagues, their resentment of friendship with Col. J. Wesley Allison, the Shell inquiry and the final exchange of letters between Hughes and Borden when the Prime Minister asked for Hughes' resignation.

CONNAUGHT LETTERS

Several expressions of admiration for the Duke of Connaught are contained in the memoirs.
However, early in the war, Borden relates, "the Duke failed to realize that his status and powers as commander-in-chief in Canada were purely nominal, in the same sense as the King is commander-in-chief of the military forces of Great Britain."Again, in 1915, there was an exchange of letters in which the Governor-General warned Borden that if his recommendations which had been "repeatedly sent in are not acted upon I shall feel it my duty to draw the Home government's attention to the situation." One of the recommendations had to do with recruiting of Americans for the Canadian Expeditionary Force, but the memoirs do not explain the nature of it.In his reply, Borden wrote: "I have the honor further to observe that Your Royal Highness is, of course, at perfect liberty to make such representations to His Majesty's government as may seem warranted by this or any other occasion. My colleagues and I could have no possible objection to any such representations provided they take into account Canada's status as a nation possessing complete powers of self-government and provided also they do not overlook certain constitutional principles which are as well defined in this country as in Great Britain."The incident ended with the Duke of Connaught in "a very kind letter expressed regret there had been any misunderstanding.""I am perfectly convinced," the memoirs state, "that the Duke had been led into his unfortunate action through the influence of Col. Stanton, his military secretary. This gentleman had been governor of some small crown colony or dependency and seemed to be under the impression that Canada occupied the same status as the territory he had governed.""When war broke out in 1914, there were most absurd and utterly unjust suggestions in some parts of the country based on the German ancestry of the Duchess.
She was closely allied in kinship to the Emperor Wilhelm and his family; but, first and last, there was no one in Canada more thoroughly devoted to the cause of the British Empire than was Marie Hohenzollern, wife of the Duke of Connaught, Governor-General of Canada."

WALES' SUNDAY GOLF

Discussing the Prince of Wales visit to Canada in 1919, the memoirs dwell on the Prince's "boyish and earnest manner" which Borden found "most attractive and charming."The Prince asked Borden's permission to play golf on Sunday
but Borden advised against it.
"So far as I was concerned I could see no difference between playing golf and walking. However, there were in Canada many earnest people who thought otherwise, and they would be sincerely grieved and disappointed if the Prince should play golf on Sunday. Thus I had always refrained from playing golf on Sundays while Prime Minister, as I thought the convictions of such earnest and loyal people were entitled to respect.""He put his hand on my arm and said to me with great earnestness, 'I solemnly promise I will not play golf on Sundays unless you say that I may.'"New British-Russian

In His Official Capacity

FOR A LONG TIME IN THIS PROVINCE Mr. R. L. Maitland, Leader of the Conservative and official Opposition in the Legislature, has enjoyed a reputation for flawless phrasing, a pleasant and cajoling manner of delivery, and a command of the fine points of rhetorical legerdemain which make prepared speeches well worth listening to. For more than an hour yesterday he took his fellow-members of the House into his confidence, figuratively bared his innermost soul to them, hinting also to the well-filled galleries and the people of the wide-open spaces that it was their bounden duty to take more than a passing interest in the "science and art of government." It was a pleasant speech, this first utterance of Mr. Maitland's in his new role, nicely balanced with genuine tributes and the gentle warning to his ministerial adversaries that there would be "breakers ahead" if they did not mind their "p's and q's."

With Mr. Maitland's solicitude for the welfare of the man on the land nobody in the Legislature or out of it would quarrel. Very truly did he say that if the farmer—the worker who produces the wealth from the soil, who is nearest to Nature and the fundamentals of life—is happy and contented, his profitable toll must speed the pace of the wheels of industry. The Leader of the Opposition pleaded with the government to be liberal in its treatment of this man. If some of the logic Mr. Maitland employed to embellish his appeal may be open to debate, he drew the essence of his plea from his sincerity of purpose. Nor did he overdraw the economic picture when he complained that vast expenditures throughout this country on unemployment relief had produced little in the shape of permanent achievement. It was an uninspiring, but none the less true, title which Mr. Maitland affixed to this picture: "A Young Man Starts Life On Relief." Again he pleaded with the government to go the limit in behalf of this man—give him work to do that would return practical and moral dividends. No government, of course, is finding it simple to compound this prescription.

It was not a mere customary formality in which Mr. Maitland indulged when he paid tribute to Mr. Pattullo's long parliamentary service to the province—beginning as a member of British Columbia's first Liberal administration, then as Leader of the Opposition to the government of which Mr. Maitland himself was a member, and since 1933 as Prime Minister. The ring of sincerity was equally noticeable when the Conservative chief alluded to the new occupant of a ministerial chair—Hon. W. J. Assestine—as "a distinct acquisition to the Cabinet." So, although we may disagree occasionally with Mr. Maitland's arguments as the session proceeds, critical, perhaps, of the manner in which he wields his debating rapier, we congratulate him heartily on his first speech as Leader of His Majesty's Loyal Opposition.

Blasted Hopes and Bombast

TWO EUROPEAN ANNIVERSARIES are noted on the calendar today. One is the 20th birthday of the independent sovereign state of Czechoslovakia. The other is the 16th annual celebration of Mussolini's "black-shirt" march on Rome.

The people of the dismembered Central European republic have little heart for celebration as they contemplate the wreck of their nation-building, the destruction of their life-long ambition, and the heartless betrayal by friends upon whom they had counted for succor in their time of great need. As a people, however, the Czechoslovaks have set an example in resignation and fortitude that will outlive the temporary triumph of the Munich conference. Typical of an honest and peace-loving people is the remark of Premier Jan Syrový, the only anniversary speaker in Prague today, who urged the nation not to "waste your time talking politics" but to work for reconstruction, to dismiss any thought of revenge. Noble words, these!

Different entirely, however, was the declamation of one of the Munich quartette in Rome today. Said Mussolini: "The political horizon is clearing. . . . It is becoming accentuated and is continually becoming more vast and promising. . . . but we Fascists continue and will continue to march with the same inflexible energy with which we marched on the eve of that never-to-be-forgotten October day."

Quite so; the Rome-Berlin-Tokio machinery is running smoothly. Ethiopia has been bled. Czechoslovakia has been carved with the swastika knife. China is fighting for her life. And all this has been permitted entry to the record, is still being added to, largely because two supposedly democratic governments have yet to be convinced that of the two types of totalitarian control now in operation, that imposed upon their respective peoples by Hitler and Mussolini is vastly more dangerous in its threat of eventual world revolution than the gospel according to Moscow ever has been or ever will be.

Small wonder, then, that far-seeing public men in high office—in the British Empire, in the neighboring republic, and in the remaining free states of the world—are apprehensive of the encouragement given to the twin tyrants in the ancient Bavarian city of Munich four weeks ago.

Wild-life Sanctuaries

WITH AN UNTAMED OUTDOORS AT our disposal, we Canadians are rather given to thinking of wild-life conservation in very large and spacious terms. The idea that anything worth while can be done in less than a thousand-square miles seems hardly worth considering.

Yet two of Europe's smaller countries, Denmark and the Netherlands, have well-worked-out systems for the protection and encouragement of wild life, despite the intensive utilization of the last inch of cultivable land necessitated by their limited territories and dense populations.

In Denmark, the government may create wild-life preserves, upon suitable compensation to the landowners. But landowners themselves may set up preserves if they so desire, with the scientific advice and assistance of the government. Two types of wild-life preserves are provided for, intended respectively for game-providing and scientific purposes.

In the Netherlands the cause of wild-life conservation is genuinely popular. There is a well-organized society for nature protection, with a membership of 13,000, who are backed by other and even larger organizations, such as the bicyclists' union, with over 100,000 members. These groups have been so well able to swing public opinion—not to mention fiscal legislation—that in the last 31 years no less than 39 game and wild-life sanctuaries have been established.

As in Denmark, private landowners are encouraged to put some of their lands to use for the benefit of wild life. In the Netherlands, this encouragement takes the practical and highly tempting form of a partial remission of taxation. As a result, more than 325 large estates, with a total of over 125,000 acres, have taken advantage of this law—and given the country the advantage of their utilization as homes for game and wild fowl.

No Holding Back

OUR CORRESPONDENT WHO WROTE that the Victoria press has been featuring hold-ups in Vancouver while there have been during the last four weeks 40 reports of burglary in Victoria without "one arrest reported," cannot have been a regular reader of this newspaper. Yesterday we carried the story of the court case following from the arrest of a suspect in last Saturday night's $1,000 fur-shop robbery. Earlier in the week there were the stories of two youths arrested and sentenced for purse-snatching and burglary; also, the report of the police court trial of the man who had been arrested and charged with the Saturday night hold-up when friends playing bridge with Mr. H. Moonen in the latter's apartment were ordered by a sudden intruder to "Stick 'em up." The Victoria police are showing a high average of speedy results in crime cases and readers will find the local papers are not passing up the reports.

Add Costs of Peace

PREMIER DALADIER OF FRANCE THE other day called representatives of French newspapers and "threatened necessary punishment if newspapers refused to halt discussion of possible measures dealing with the country's economic situation."

An Associated Press dispatch notes that the conservative Paris Figaro "suggested France needed a special board of censors to control news and editorial discussion in periods of international tension."

Ten thousand loyal subjects standing with arms raised in salute to Hitler may look a little silly to most of us in a democracy, but it must look like a picnic to a pickpocket.

Supporting the move to induce the provincial government to reduce British Columbia's high annual motor car license fees, the Cowichan Leader recalls that fixing of a nominal license fee was strongly urged by Mr. Hugh Savage when he was a member of the Legislature. Experience has proved the nominal fee, which has been adopted nearly everywhere else, to be sound in principle. Motor vehicles are now far from being in the luxury class and the seven-cent gasoline levy is ample taxation on the motor user, distributing the burden well, according to size and weight of vehicles and usage of the roads.

RETIRING OUR DEBT

The only sinking fund provision made by the Dominion Government is on certain sterling issues. None of the provinces make proper sinking fund provision and those that have statutory sinking fund requirements are millions of dollars in arrears.

The present policy simply means Canadians are paying interest on loans contracted for works which are now obsolete. Hundreds of millions of dollars of the public debt have been incurred for assets which no longer exist.

There are instances where interest paid on loans incurred for certain buildings is now greater than the original cost of the building. Yet no provision has been made for retirement of any of the debt.

It is time Canadians called a halt to such procedure.

The immediate objective of the Dominion Government and every province should be to make proper provision for retirement of debt. Sinking fund payment should be an ordinary charge of government just as interest charges are.

Much as a reduction in taxation is desirable, sinking funds should first be established on a sound basis.

The best solution for excessive taxation is to reduce debt.

NEW MAN

THURSDAY WAS MR. MAITLAND'S great day in the House, and though it has seen him and heard him countless times before, as boy and man, as prosecutor and defender, as cabinet minister and private member, the House sat back and listened, rather tensely, as if to a new man.

Leadership gives you that remoteness, that glamour, that weight to every word, though you may have said the same thing, or a better thing and been ignored when you were only a follower. It gives to the House a sense of new respect and new expectation, as if a man, on becoming a party leader, could suddenly take on a new character, a new inspiration, a new and blinding revelation.

How far that expectation was fulfilled in the House and in the country, let the House and the country decide. To this observer it was the same Pat Maitland, with all his generous, likeable qualities, all his splendid aspirations, all his great ability, all his love for the abstract and his dislike of the concrete.

Yet there was a change here, and mark it well. Mr. Maitland had been hatching this speech a long time. He had pondered its contents, considered its tone, weighed the mood of it. And it seemed, as he got into it, that he had decided to adopt a tone of the most studied moderation, as if he had warned himself, looking in his mirror, that at no time must he appear too bitter, too scornful or too eager.

The effect was to offer a strange contrast to the tremendous Philippics of Pattullo when he was in opposition, to the knock-down-and-drag-out technique of Bowser, to the boyish, war whoops of Pooley.

SORROW, NOT ANGER

INSTEAD, MR. MAITLAND approached the government obviously more in sorrow than in anger, and perhaps no opposition leader ever attacked a ministry so kindly, so fairly and so sadly. Clearly he sought to leave an impression not of partisanship and hate, but of sincerity, of high idealism, of earnest striving. In this he succeeded well.

Left behind was all his sarcasm, his wealth of phrase, his subtle rapier strokes that used to serve the Tolmie Government so well in tight places.

Left behind and crushed out with fierce self-denial, were all his jokes, his quips and after-dinner stories, as if he were determined to prove, in this first hour of trial, that he is not merely the raconteur, the phrase maker and master of repartee that we used to know, that he has grown up now into the stature of a premier.

That was the obvious purpose of the speech and it placed the House for the moment on a high plane, on such a tone of respectability that we scarcely knew ourselves, in such a rarified atmosphere that some of our more practical politicians must have found difficulty in breathing. And when he really got going, you could see the quivers of better feelings, of a new piety, going up and down the spines of the back benches.

There was good stuff in his speech and wonderful earnestness, but often his best and most effective passages, which seem new and shiny and full of import are found, on closer examination, to be rather airy, likely to slip through your fingers and leave you wondering what they mean. No man in British Columbia can put so much passion into a platitude.

There were a number of them, all well dressed and of the better sort. But that is true of every political leader and especially opposition leaders, who are not bound by the uncomfortable restrictions of a premier. Mr. Pattullo used to make plenty of them, too.

What, then, did Mr. Maitland propose for British Columbia? A new policy? A sudden change? A different system?

No. Billed down, he offered British Columbia simply better government. That, evidently, is to be his appeal now and in the next election — better and cleaner and more efficient government, but, apparently, on precisely the present basic lines. None of the C.C.F. revolution for him, not even the later conversion of Bennett.

In fact, so closely does his policy resemble that of the government that he came out emphatically for Mr. Pattullo's old program called in the history books, Work and Wages. It is now called "gainful employment," but it is the same thing in a more sober wrapping. Opposition leaders invariably advocate it.

BRIEF FIRE

ONLY ONCE DID Mr. Maitland kindle fire and then he controlled it well. Deliberately he recalled the record of the Tolmie Government, knowing it would rouse the treasury benches. And when they sneered at the old Conservative record, Mr. Maitland, completing his manoeuvre, replied, knuckles pounding his desk, long red locks flying, that he was starting his leadership from now, and would not be bound by the past.

This was his manner of turning a new leaf in our politics, cutting himself clean from the sorry mess of the old government in which, to be fair to him, he was not a decisive factor.

Mr. Sheppard, of Delta, wound up the day as the first C.C.F. speaker — a fine, earnest man with more meat in his address than you often get from the treasury benches or the opposition front rows. His plea for the man on the small, struggling farm was all the more moving because he did not try to dramatize it and because he obviously was one of these people—the most useful of our citizens—and the most sorely pressed.

Palestine Crisis

BARNET NOVER
In the Washington Post

MORE THAN 15 months have now elapsed since Great Britain, in a gesture of desperation decided that the only way to solve the Palestinian problem was by dividing the land.

Adopting the Peel commission's recommendations as the official program of action, the British government announced a plan permanently to separate Jews and Arabs in the Holy Land. It proposed to create a tiny Jewish state fronting the Mediterranean, and an independent Palestine Arab state to be united with Transjordan. The holy cities, plus a corridor from Jerusalem to the sea, were to remain under British mandate.

The plan aroused little enthusiasm anywhere. The Jews did not like it because it would mean the restriction of the Zionist experiment to an area smaller than the state of Connecticut, yet containing within its meagre borders an Arab minority of 250,000. The Arabs opposed it from the start on the ground that all of Palestine was theirs by right. The League mandates commission was critical. The House of Commons gave the plan a frigid reception.

PERHAPS the plan is not and never was workable. But it is obvious that whatever chance of success it may have had at the outset was wrecked beyond recovery by the long delay that followed the publication of the plan.

For 15 months Jews and Arabs alike have been faced by uncertainty regarding Palestine's political future. But since July, 1937, the British government has shown a vast capacity to swallow its pride. The British ambassador to China was machine-gunned by a Japanese aviator. Only feeble protests came from London. Spanish ships were blown out of Spanish waters by insurgent planes. Nothing was done about it. The nonintervention plan which Great Britain had sponsored was openly flouted by Italy and Germany. Britain stood by and denied that anything of the kind was done. And in the recent Czechoslovak crisis, the British government revealed that to preserve the peace it was prepared to pay almost any price.

There can be no denying that in these 15 months British prestige has fallen to a very low ebb, a fact which the Arabs of Palestine and their supporters elsewhere have not failed to capitalize.

Their line of reasoning is clear. If the Japanese, the Italians, the Germans could intimidate the great British Empire, so could they. That is why during these last months the guerrilla war waged by Arab nationalists in Palestine has been directed fully as much against the British authorities as against the Jews. And at Cairo the Moslem Congress, which has espoused the cause of the Palestinian Arabs, adopted a resolution as drastic in its way as were the Godesberg demands of Adolf Hitler.

This resolution demanded an end to Jewish immigration into Palestine, repudiated the partition plan and said the British mandate over the Holy Land must be abolished.

WANTS PEN FRIENDS

To the Editor:—As I have a good number of young German ladies and gentlemen on my waiting-list who would like friendly correspondence with Canadian pen-friends, I take the liberty to ask you whether you could help me in this respect. Could you, please, supply me with addresses of people who are interested in German-Canadian friendship? My own German members know English quite well, but would also be pleased to write in German if it is required.

I should be greatly obliged if you could soon send me some Canadian addresses.

Japanese Gain South of Hankow

By LLOYD LEHRAS
Associated Press Foreign Staff

SHANGHAI—Japanese troops captured Sianning, 50 miles south of fallen Hankow, Friday and established a spearhead for an advance down the Hankow-Canton railway toward strategic Yochow.

The invaders thus briskly followed up their conquest of Hankow by slashing off a vast swamp area south of that former capital, and asserted they had trapped large numbers of disorganized and fleeing Chinese troops.

War maps showed, however, that an unoccupied corridor about 20 miles wide between the railroad and the Yangtze River would allow the fugitives to cross the twisting stream or retreat to Yochow, a city that controls both the Yangtze and the Canton-Hankow line 110 miles southwest of Hankow. Observers noted, furthermore, the Chinese had escaped most of the previous alleged "traps," leaving only a handful of prisoners in Japanese hands after 479 days of war.

Japanese reports said their planes and field guns exacted an "inestimable toll" from the Chinese in their "strategic" retreat. The army command estimated 130 Chinese divisions were withdrawing westward from the Hankow area.

From Macheng, 50 miles north-east of Hankow, another Japanese column was driving westward and claimed to have taken Hwangang, 35 miles distant, with the result it was in a position to mop up areas north of Hankow.

Single Jobless Fingerprinted

EDMONTON (CP)—Fingerprinting of single unemployed men registering for provincial relief is not compulsory, Hon. W. W. Cross, Alberta Minister of Health and Relief, stated today. "When an applicant for provincial relief is being registered, he is asked if he wishes to be fingerprinted for identification purposes," said Dr. Cross. "My information is to the effect that up to the present there has been hardly any objection on the part of applicants to being fingerprinted."

NEW ALBERTA OIL QUOTA TESTED

Some Well Owners Decline to Reduce Output as Ordered

CALGARY (CP)—The new production order of the Alberta Petroleum and Natural Gas Conservation Board reducing the daily allowance production of crude oil in Turner Valley to 11,500 barrels went into effect today.

Not all the wells, however, obeyed the order. Reports from the field said some wells were operating at quotas above those fixed by the board.

"We are operating at full production," said W. C. Fisher, managing director of the Model Oils Limited.

Mr. Fisher announced yesterday his company would disregard board orders and was ready to meet any court action.

Marynard J. Davies, another independent operator, today approved of Mr. Fisher's stand. "Unless the situation changes we shall have to follow suit," he said. Mr. Davies is president of Davies Petroleum Limited.

A lessened market demand in the west necessitated reducing the daily output from valley wells, W. F. Knode, chairman of the conservation board, said. He refused comment on reports some operators were disregarding the new production order.

A week ago production was reduced from 22,000 barrels to 14,500.

Boy Sees Moving Things Upside Down

CHICAGO (AP)—Everything that moves seems upside down to eight-year-old Richard Kenealy. The discovery by his parents and teachers that Richard's world is topsy-turvy made him an object of scientific curiosity today. The boy, a second-grade pupil, reads upside down and backward. A moving automobile, he said, seems as though its wheels are in the air, but when it stops it is instantaneously back to normal. Dr. S. J. Krump, a public school optometrist, said the case was unique in his 19 years of practice. He expressed belief careful and patient muscular training would make Richard's vision normal. The red-haired youngster was described as a normal, except for his vision.

B.C. Lumberman Dies at Spokane

SPOKANE (AP)—Walter August Sahlstrom, 51, British Columbia lumberman who had made his home in Spokane since last July, died yesterday after a short illness.

He owned a lumber mill at Waneta, B.C., at the time of his death, although most of his life had been spent at Trail and Nelson.

In addition to the widow here, he is survived by a son, Theodore, at Trail, and a brother, Charles, at Blueberry Creek, B.C.

NEW FIRST LORD HAD VARIED DUTIES

British Cabinet Change Gives Earl Stanhope Admiralty Post

LONDON—Appointment of Earl Stanhope as First Lord of the Admiralty yesterday meant a shift for him, as he has been in the cabinet since 1936. First he served as First Commissioner of Works and more recently as President of the Board of Education. After the cabinet reorganization following the resignation of Rt. Hon. Anthony Eden as Foreign Secretary last February he assumed the additional duties of government leader in the House of Lords.

He entered the cabinet after the resignation of Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas in the summer of 1936. Prior to that he had been, for two years, under-secretary for foreign affairs, acting as the government's spokesman on Foreign Office matters in the House of Lords.

Lord Stanhope headed the British delegation to the 1936 Montreux conference, which granted Turkey permission to rearm the Dardanelles. He has been a trustee of the National Portrait Gallery since 1930.

The new First Lord will be 58 next month. He succeeded his father as seventh earl in 1905. During the Great War he served with the Grenadier Guards.

He is a close friend of Earl Baldwin, his former chief, and frequently entertains him at his Kentish seat, Chevening Park.

There are 22 members of the Chamberlain Cabinet, of whom seven sit in the House of Lords. Two of the most important portfolios, Foreign Affairs and the Admiralty, are now administered by Peers.

LADYSMITH TO ENFORCE BY-LAW

LADYSMITH—Cows must go, the city council decided at its meeting Wednesday evening, after debate on a letter from owners who referred to themselves as "cow-holders." This decision disposes of a petition from those interested, seeking a stay or repeal of the city by-law that forbids the keeping of cows, goats and other livestock after the end of this year.

The sum of $200 is available for improvement of local playgrounds under the Dominion-provincial scheme. The matter was referred to the city public works committee to recommend where the money could be spent to best advantage. It is likely the sum will be devoted to improving the three-lot area on Roberts Street, known as Corona Square.

Civic funds are low and the finance committee advised all other commitments to proceed with extreme caution for the balance of the fiscal year.

The council decided to proceed with the school building loan plebiscite in December for a total of $20,000, instead of the $25,000 sought by other groups.

CHAMBERLAIN MAN WINS BY-ELECTION

Q. Hogg Wins in Oxford, But Government's 1935 Majority Halved

LONDON (CP)—Quintin Hogg, Conservative, yesterday retained the Oxford City seat in the House of Commons for the government by a majority in what was interpreted as an expression of qualified approval of Prime Minister Chamberlain's foreign policy.

Mr. Hogg, son of Viscount Hailsham, Lord President of the Council, polled 15,797 votes to 12,363 for his only opponent, Alexander Lindsay, master of Balliol, running as an Independent-Progressive.

This meant a reduction in the government's majority from 645 votes in the 1935 general election to 3,434.

In 1935 Captain R. C. Bourne, Conservative, whose death caused the vacancy, polled 16,306 votes to 9,661 for P. Gordon-Walker, Labor. Some 2,100 more voters went to the polls yesterday than turned out in 1935.

The first by-election since the Munich settlement of September 30 had been watched with keen interest throughout the country as an indication of popular feeling over the agreement in which Britain and France accepted the partition of Czechoslovakia.

The figures showed 74 per cent of the electorate voted, a considerably higher percentage than in most recent by-elections.

Observers felt that the halving of the majority meant a number of people, while thankful war was averted, were dubious about the means by which it was achieved.

The by-election was the first of a group of seven in which the country's reaction to the Munich agreement is being put to the test.

By-elections still pending are in Doncaster, Walsall, Dartford, West Lewisham, Flyde and Bridgewater.

The government held all these seats except Doncaster, which had a Labor representative. The next polling will be in Dartford November 7.

REICH SENDS MANY JEWS INTO POLAND

BERLIN (AP)—Authoritative informants said today officials already had sent several thousand Polish Jews formerly living in Germany back to Poland following a nation-wide round-up.

In Berlin alone several hundred Polish Jews were routed from their beds in early morning raids semi-officially explained as intended to forestall application of a new Polish law that might deprive thousands of Jews in Germany of Polish citizenship. Only men were held.

The German government has estimated 150,000 residents of Germany are Polish citizens. According to a Polish law coming into effect October 30, all these by that date must have their passports revalidated by Polish authorities.

Failure to obtain such revalidation will mean the passport holder never again can enter Poland.

ACCIDENTAL DEATH

NANAIMO—The coroner's jury brought in a verdict of accidental death, without blame to anyone, after considering circumstances of death of Robert Forrester, carpenter foreman for Western Fuel Co., fatally injured October 25 at the coal washery at No. 1 Mine. The jury recommended that guards be erected in future near moving shafts where men are working.

Company Details At Bren Inquiry

OTTAWA — At today's session of the Bren gun contract inquiry I. F. Hellmuth, K.C., counsel for Maclean's magazine, asked Major J. E. Hahn, president of the John Inglis Company of Toronto, when he knew Cameron, Pointon and Merritt, Toronto brokerage firm, was selling Inglis shares at $7.50 each.

Major Hahn said he knew in June they were proposing to sell some shares of their own.

Mr. Hellmuth referred to so-called "informational statements" let out by Cameron, Pointon and Merritt and Kippen and Company of Montreal. These statements were put in evidence by the accountant who was examined earlier this week. Mr. Hellmuth suggested the wording of some letters Hahn had written was very similar to that used in these "informational statements."

"Oh, call it what it is—a prospectus—it is plainly a prospectus," Commissioner Davis interjected.

"It was shown the circular and knew they were selling stock and was told by them they had issued a number of those circulars," Major Hahn said.

"Did you take any objection to it?"

"No." Lieut.-Col. George Drew, K.C., who wrote an article for Maclean's Magazine, appearing as his own counsel and associated with Mr. Hellmuth, took up the cross-examination and questioned Major Hahn on his business career. The witness said he had built up several big businesses in Canada.

These included the Deforest Crosley Radio Corporation and several subsidiaries which were listed by Col. Drew.

Col. Drew asked whether it was not true Major Hahn took over the physical assets of Consolidated Industries Limited, including Deforest Crosley Radio, at 20 cents on the dollar instead of that company merging with Rogers-Majestic.

Major Hahn said this was not so, but shareholders of both companies took a substantial loss. Aime Geoffrion, K.C., objected to the questioning and Col. Drew said Major Hahn was reported to have impressed Defence Minister Mackenzie and must have had a record as an industrialist.

Replying to another question, Major Hahn agreed shareholders of Consolidated Industries received one share of Rogers-Majestic for 10 of their former shares.

QUESTION OF LOSSES

In later questioning Col. Drew asked:

"Is there a single company with which you have been connected since the war as president and general manager in which the shareholders have not lost money?" asked Col. Drew.

"Yes, Amrad Corporation."

"Is there a single Canadian company in which that is not the case?"

"It was only connected with one as president and general manager."

"And it is correct that the shareholders of Consolidated Industries, the only Canadian company in which you were connected as president and general manager, now have shares worth only a small fraction of their original investment?"

"That is true and it is also true of Rogers-Majestic," said the witness.

"You have been described as a man of substantial means. Is that correct?" Col. Drew asked.

"It depends upon what you mean by 'substantial means.'"

"Well, you are not a poor man."

"I don't think that has any significance," Commissioner Davis interrupted.

Major Hahn, pressed by Col. Drew, said he had no quarrel with Mr. Skeys reference.

APPEAL TO CZECHS ON ANNIVERSARY

PRAGUE (AP)—Czechoslovakia came today to her 20th birthday with little spirit or time for celebration. Instead her efforts to cut her political and industrial life to the pattern of her diminished size continued without pause.

The Czechoslovak state, now dismembered by the Munich conference and reduced in wealth and power, came into existence October 28, 1918, when the national council took over the territory which had belonged to the Austro-Hungarian Empire.

Premier Jan Syrový, the only anniversary speaker, told the nation not to "waste your time talking politics," but to work for reconstruction. He appealed for the nation to dismiss any thought of revenge for the events of the past month.

All sort and conditions of men are supporting the Chest. ***

SCIENTIST APPEALS FOR GOODWILL

Internal Must Precede International Reconciliation, Says Sir Wm. Bragg

LONDON—Sir William Bragg, one of Britain's leading scientists, in a national broadcast urged the nation to find, first of all, internal reconciliation as the means for a more effective arrangement for international reconciliation, and that goodwill must not now be damaged by encouragement of suspicion, malicious interpretation and ignorant criticism.

"Policy, foreign as well as domestic, is for every nation ultimately determined by the character of her people and the inspiration of her leaders," declared Sir William, in the first of three broadcasts on moral rearmament. "The strength of a nation consists in the vitality of her principles. How can we bring about that permanent peace needed to build a social structure in which every part is of use and in which every member of the community feels cared for and wanted?"

"Moral rearmament means an experiment with the principles of Christ. It means a new fitness in our work, our body and our brain. We must put aside sternly every indulgence that clouds our vision and weakens our power. Clearly, the experiment will be spoiled if we damage goodwill by encouraging suspicion, malicious interpretation and ignorant criticism. Now is the time to pull ourselves together. We see the efficiency of authoritarian states and realize once again the power of discipline and common purpose. But our service must be voluntary, not forced, yet full and ready as if ordered by a dictator. The nearer we are, as a nation, come to internal reconciliation, the more effective we shall be in arranging a reconciliation which is external and international, and the nearer will be the day when all defences can come down. We do not know how far away this day is. We only know it will come if we work and fight for it."

Japanese Emperor Acknowledges Cheers

TOKIO (CP-Havas)—Crowds, celebrating the fall of Hankow, were awestruck when an erect figure on a snow-white horse rode slowly to the centre of the Nijubashi Bridge spanning the moat of the Imperial Palace. There he stood, frozen into statue-like immobility.

"It is the Emperor!" the whisper rustled through the crowd.

Emperor Hirohito thus broke a precedent of the Japanese royal house by emerging from the palace without previous announcement to acknowledge personally the banquets and bows of the celebrating people.

Two Students Killed

PEEKSKILL, N.Y. (CP)—Two Canadian medical students were killed today and three others were injured severely when the car they were driving to New York for a holiday visit crashed into a tree.

Francis Vance, 21, of Quebec City, and Sidney Simms, 27, of the Bronx, New York City, died as a result of double fractures of the skulls suffered when the car left the road on an "S" curve.

More Births In Canada

OTTAWA (CP)—Deaths and marriages in Canada in September were lower than in September, 1937, and births increased, according to a Dominion Bureau of Statistics report today. Births registered in 67 cities and towns totaled 7,284 against 6,911; deaths, 4,036 against 4,061, and marriages, 4,751 against 4,803.

Egyptians Aid Arabs

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt (CP-Havas)—An appeal for Egyptians to contribute funds for the aid of Arabs in Palestine was issued today by Mohammed Ali Alluba, chief of the delegation going to London to submit to the British government the resolutions passed at the recent Moslem congress at Cairo. The delegation will reach London next Tuesday.

German Consul Says Free Press Failure

NEW YORK (AP)—Dr. Hans Borchers, German consul-general in New York, said last night at a meeting in Yorkville, German-American neighborhood:

"My American friends begin to agree something must be wrong with their so-called free press."

Dr. Borchers, the first German official here to appear on a public platform since Germany annexed the Sudeten territory, was the only speaker at the meeting, described as a memorial celebration of the return of Sudeten Germany.

"If we enforce the expulsion of the Jew from the life of a nation," he said, "we do so because it is essential for us and it seems a remarkable coincidence other European nations do likewise."

About 1,500 persons paid 60 cents each to attend the meeting, and it was announced the proceeds would be for the benefit of needy Sudeten Germans.

To Relieve Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness And Head Noises

Persons suffering from catarrhal deafness, or who are growing hard of hearing and have head noises will be glad to know that this distressing affliction can usually be successfully treated at home by an internal medicine that in many instances has effected complete relief after other treatments have failed. Sufferers who could scarcely hear have had their hearing restored to such an extent that the tick of a watch was plainly audible seven or eight inches away from either ear. Therefore, if you know of someone who is troubled with head noises or catarrhal deafness, cut out this formula and hand it to them; and you may have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. The prescription can be prepared at home and is made as follows:

Secure from your druggist one ounce of Parmit (Double Strength). Take this home and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day.

Parmit is used in this way not only to reduce by tonic action the inflammation and swelling in the Eustachian Tube, and thus to equalize the air pressure on the drum, but to correct any excess of secretions in the middle ear, and the result is given are nearly always quick and effective.

Every person who has catarrh in any form, or distressing, humming, hissing sounds in their ears, should give this recipe a trial.

No College Career For Quintuplets

NEW YORK (CP)—"Just normal, healthy country girls."

That is what the Dionne quintuplets are to their physician-guardian, Dr. Allan Roy Dafeo, and that is what he thinks they should be brought up to be in later life.

"College would be no place for girls like the quintuplets," he said today in an interview. "We are preparing them for the home country life to which they belong—happy marriage and good, big families of their own."

"Some people are made for the simpler things in life. The quintuplets are like that," he added.

Girl Guides Plan 'Good Turns' for Tomorrow

To Celebrate Guide
National Day;
Broadcast Planned

The annual Guide National Day is this year being celebrated tomorrow, and all Canadian Guides have been asked by Toronto headquarters to observe it fittingly.

The Victoria division, at a guilders' meeting arranged for each company to choose their own methods of showing friendliness and goodwill, and while all decisions have not been reported, the following list of "good turns" may give the public an idea of what the young people in their familiar blue uniforms intend doing:

"GOOD TURNS"

The 2nd, 4th and 6th East companies will collect old linen for the Chinese wounded soldiers, and any east rangers who are not serving as guilders will assist.

The 2nd Victoria West, in conjunction with the 8th North Tillam, have invited the Protestant Orphanage children to accompany them on a hike.

The 3rd West (Catholic Women's League company) will do a "good turn" for the Poor Clare Sisterhood at the Willows.

TO CLEAR PARK PATHS

The 6th West, inspired by last year's success, have decided to clear the Beacon Hill Park paths from the Burns monument to Dallas Road of papers and other rubbish.

The West Ranger Company also consists mainly of guilders, but those members who are not on duty with their companies will collect beach wood for a needy family.

The 3rd North have asked the district nurse to suggest a family for whom they can collect and chop wood. The 8th North will assist with the orphanage hike or collect wood, which ever is most required.

DOMINION-WIDE BROADCAST

The Guides of Canada will be linked together on the evening of their National Day by a Dominion-wide broadcast, and will receive messages from Lady Tweedsmuir and the chief commissioner, Mrs. Warren. Guides songs will be sung and a Guide "quiz" given, the program to last from 8 to 8.30, eastern standard time.

It is regrettable that in the Victoria division Guide companies and Brownie packs are finding it hard to carry on because adult help is not forthcoming. Anyone who is interested in the work will be welcome at a meeting of the Guides' Council to be held on Tuesday evening, November 1, at 1743 Lee Avenue, at 8 o'clock.

Queen Bequeathed Family Diamonds

LONDON (AP)—Queen Elizabeth was bequeathed the diamonds of her mother, the Countess of Strathmore, in a will made public yesterday.

The King received two miniatures of his wife. The bulk of the £11,000 ($55,000) estate of the countess, who died June 23, was left to two younger sons.

Ten-year-old Girl Widower's Bride

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—A Courier-Journal dispatch from Prestonsburg, in the mountain region of eastern Kentucky, reported the marriage of a 10-year-old girl to a 34-year-old widower.

The dispatch said Rosie Columbus and Fleming Tackett were wed Monday by Rev. W. G. Ratliff, employed as a blacksmith in a coal mine about 500 yards from the Columbus cabin.

The license was obtained, the dispatch said, by the girl's mother, Mrs. Grace Columbus, at the Prestonsburg courthouse last week. The mother reported the girl's age as 15.

The dispatch added that a checkup of the records in the health department showed the girl was born February 12, 1928.

Says Birth Control Race Suicide

BILLOXI, Mass. (AP)—Archbishop Joseph Francis Rummel of New Orleans, told the United States council of Catholic women yesterday the "diabolical philosophy of birth control is suicide to the nation."

He warned his listeners to "watch the new tactics of the birth controllers, especially the maternity guilds." Birth control, he asserted, is morally and patriotically dangerous.

"It is what President Theodore Roosevelt called 'race suicide,'" the archbishop said. "I am afraid we have been calling it by all sorts of fancy names, but this diabolical philosophy of birth control is suicide to the nation."

AXHORN—HARRIGAN

At the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. J. M. Murray, Cloverdale Avenue, last evening at 7.30, Rev. Bryce Wallace united in marriage Sue Henrietta, youngest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Harrigan, Unity, Sask., and Kincairdine, Ont., and Mr. Charles Axhorn, Pembroke Street.

Chrysanthemums were used in decoration of the rooms, making an effective setting for the quiet ceremony. The bride wore a smart frock of brown Barado crepe with gold metallic trimming and a bouquet of carnations and fern. She was attended by her two nieces, Mrs. William Bates in a grey and plaid ensemble, carrying a bouquet of mauve chrysanthemums, and Miss Doris Harrigan, in a princess frock of teal blue crepe, with a sheaf of bronze chrysanthemums. Mr. H. L. Coleman was best man.

After the ceremony, supper was served at a table centred with a three-tiered cake and decorated with vases of pink chrysanthemums and pink tapers in silver holders. Mrs. Murray welcomed the guests in a gown of black marquisette with touches of dusty pink.

Mr. and Mrs. Axhorn left at midnight for Vancouver, the bride donning a coat of autumn rust trimmed with mountain sable over her wedding outfit, and a matching "Peggy" model hat with a feather mount, and brown accessories. They will reside on Pembroke Street on their return.

ADAMS—LEATHERBARROW

Chrysanthemums mingled with trailing ivy adorned the home of Major and Mrs. Mutart, 4138 West Tenth, Vancouver, on Friday evening, for the wedding of Miss Cora Leatherbarrow of Calgary, who became the bride of Mr. Theodore Adams of Victoria. Given in marriage by Mrs. A. Warren of Calgary, the bride wore for her wedding a Queen Anne styled gown of white satin with lace trimming, with a tiny embroidered cap to match, and she carried a bouquet of red Sweetheart roses, showered with lily of the valley. Maize chiffon fashioned the gown of Miss Eva Leatherbarrow, who attended her sister as bridesmaid. A posy of white carnations, dressed her hair and her arm bouquet was composed of pale pink carnations. Mr. R. D. Murdoch was the groomsmen.

A supper followed the ceremony, where Mrs. R. D. Murdoch and Mrs. A. Crego presided at the lace covered table, which was centred with the bridal cake and lighted with gleaming white tapers. Solos were given by Miss Sary Mutart, Miss Jean Murdoch and Mr. Tom Wright.

For traveling, the bride donned a brown and coral knitted suit with matching accessories. On their return from their wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Adams will reside in Victoria.

The Sir Matthew Baillie Begbie Chapter I.O.D.E. will hold a bridge tea on Thursday, November 3, in the upper ballroom of the Crystal Gardens. There will be prizes. ### I.O.D.E. Chapters Plan Joint Frolic

For Founders' Day At Armories In February

Founders' Day will be celebrated with a joint entertainment by all the local I.O.D.E. chapters at the Armories on Wednesday afternoon and evening, February 15, it was decided at yesterday's meeting of Municipal Chapter held in the headquarters. Mrs. R. Shanks will convene the affair and each primary chapter will have charge of a game, stall or some form of amusement.

WOULD BAN "KEN"

The chapter passed a resolution asking that the magazine "Ken" be banned from Canada, and also endorsed the resolution of the Local Council of Women regarding the preservation of forests in connection with logging.

Mrs. P. E. Corby gave an interesting resume of the semi-annual meeting of Provincial Chapter in Penticton and of her trip as provincial organizing secretary.

The treasurer, Mrs. E. O. Weston, asked that all primary chapters obtain their books as soon as possible. A donation of $10 from the Alexandra Rose Day collection was voted to the Solarium. The educational secretary, Mrs. F. F. Beckett, suggested that chapters obtain the official catalogue of books for donations to schools, and also asked chapters to notify Mrs. Kent, Empire 4848, before Monday as to the number of calendars required. Mrs. J. E. Jones, the Echoes secretary, asked that reports be sent in by Monday.

Mrs. J. E. Flack, the standard-bearer, gave her report, as did Mrs. George Mellor, chief welfare convener.

Mrs. Geo. Miles, Work-in-India convener, asked that seeds of Canadian flowers be sent for the Garden of Remembrance Day.

Donations were requested for the Girl Guides' camp door fund. Mr. Alan Campbell, convener of the League of Nations committee, drew the members' attention to the coming visit of Sir George Paish.

Mrs. K. C. Symons, the regent, who presided, spoke of the Sea Cadets and their camp held this summer. Mrs. C. W. Plumb appealed for donations to the soldiers' graves' fund, and Mrs. T. A. Johnston asked that film conveners attend a meeting to be held on Wednesday at 10.30 a.m.

Mrs. J. Quinn, house committee convener, asked for donations of cups and saucers. The chapter decided to again place a poppy wreath on the War Memorial on Remembrance Day.

The next meeting will be held on November 24 at 7.30 p.m.

SHIRLEY

The regular meeting of the Shirley Women's Institute was held in the Community Hall on Thursday. Mrs. Fry, official delegate to the district conference in Victoria, gave a report of the proceedings. Mrs. T. E. Cross presided. Hostesses were Mrs. P. Pedneault and Mrs. J. H. Downard.

Fortnightly card parties have been resumed at the Community Hall for the winter months. Prize winners on Wednesday were Mrs. J. Newman, Mrs. J. H. Downard, Miss Arden, Ray Clark, F. Garrison, J. Morelli, E. T. Arden, S. P. Clark. Six tables of military 500 were in play, conveners being Mrs. E. Banner, Mrs. P. Pedneault and J. H. Downard.

A splendid report was given by Mrs. Arden on the last social meeting. The bazaar will be held in the Orange Hall, November 19, with Mrs. A. Edmonds as convener. A shower for the bazaar will be held at the home of Mrs. P. A. Trowsdale, 506 Wilson Street, November 4, at 8. Two sisters were given the scarlet degree. Miss Ora Morrow and Miss Louisa Edmonds will be the social conveners for the next two months.

ST. JOHN'S A.Y.P.A.

St. John's A.Y.P.A. met in the Guild Room of the church Monday evening, the president, Miss L. Trickett, in the chair. Rev. G. R. V. Bolster opened the meeting with prayer. Miss Wendy Perkins, official delegate, reported on the recent British Columbia Provincial Conference of the A.Y.P.A. Miss Thora Harrison presented a report on the Local Council meeting held on October 20. A motion was passed in favor of forming a debating league in conjunction with the local council. The branch will send a letter to the government forestry branch requesting them to look into the matter of conserving the forests of Vancouver Island. Visitors welcomed to the meeting were Misses Marjorie, Bullock, Ruth and Deirdre Jardine. On Sunday evening the branch will serve refreshments for the fellowship hour to be held after the church service, when the band of the Britannia branch of the Canadian Legion will render selections. The next meeting, Monday, October 31, will take the form of a Halloween party and everyone attending is requested to wear fancy dress.

FOR REFUGEES

To the Editor:—The League of Nations Society in Canada is forming a national committee on the refugee question, whose main responsibility will be (1) to deepen the sense of Canada's responsibility toward these unfortunate people, (2) to approach the Dominion Government and work out a policy by which a reasonable number of these refugees may be allowed to find sanctuary in Canada, and (3) to raise funds which are necessary for their maintenance while still in their temporary asylums and while they are being re-established in this Dominion.

After the Austrian Anschluss it was estimated that the total number of refugees seeking new fatherlands was 660,000. About half of these were Christians (some of them non-Aryans), the best available figure placing the number of Protestants at 285,000, the Roman Catholics at 75,000, and the Jews at 300,000. Since then the situation in Czechoslovakia has added greatly to the number.

Miss Jacobson of the League of Nations Society in Canada returns from Prague about October 23, when she will report on the situation regarding refugees in Czechoslovakia.

"PEACE IN OUR TIME"

To the Editor:—Churchill's Sunday talk to Hitler and Uncle Sam (this speech was suppressed in England) says Neville's peace in our time "all hooey." Germany demands an air force three times greater than Great Britain and equality with us in naval matters simply outrageous.

Great Britain, France and Uncle Sam must stand together and fight to keep the world safe for democracy. Neville, Baldwin, Geddes and all the armament shareholders insist on immediate intensive rearmament (against whom?)

"We, the German Fuehrer, and the British Prime Minister . . . regard the agreement signed . . . as a symbol of our two peoples never to go to war with one another again."

"The affair of two weeks ago was a bluff, and both England and France fell for it," said Capt. von Tintelein. "It never was a question of war or peace at all."

LONDON — Tuesday cable, "England and France singing in chorus to Uncle Sam, we are both thinking about paying our little debts to you next November." (These little debts are so staggering that it is advisable to sit down if you do not want to topple over.)

Anthony Eden and Duff Cooper are strong for a Union Government, Communists, High Churchmen, etc., to replace the Neville combine and so endeavor to preserve British prestige and provide work and wages for everybody.

CHARLES WALKDEN.

AGITATORS AND SOCIAL PROGRESS

To the Editor:—Perhaps it is correct to say that agitators are a part of society who may be put in a category all their own, yet divided into numerous sections. So, to deal with agitators as a whole in a short letter or article would be a sheer impossibility.

Taken as a whole, they are numerous, yet at the same time when observed in relation to population in general, they are decidedly few. Let us look at agitators who preach sterilization as a step to social well-being, better health and general social progress and we shall discover much for and against the proposition. In this field of endeavor we shall find many who have merely taken a superficial view of the situation; but, at the same time, vehement and even dogmatic either one way or the other.

There is, of course, much to be said in favor of both schools of thought, and before long it is quite possible that something of a practical nature will be done about it; but, under the present social set-up, there seems to be much which could be said against sterilization.

"At Duke University, the Baltimore author and critic, H. Mencken, in addressing a meeting of medical men, made the sweeping statement that "sterilization of the unfit would solve the medical care problem." Such irresponsible statements coming from laymen who cannot be expected to understand much of the subject are dangerous and misleading. In the first place, because there is much more in relation to "unfitness" than perhaps Mr. Mencken even dreams about.

Unfitness covers a very wide field of human existence. It has many causes and the Baltimore author may some day learn that there has not yet been found a cure-all for the many-sided phenomenon.

This may be looked upon as a reasonable example of how harmful it is possible, for agitators who possess merely a superficial knowledge of their subject-matter, can be to society and who necessarily tend to retard human development rather than give progressive movement a leg up.

"ADVANCED" NEW ZEALAND

To the Editor:—Mr. Gordon says " . . . suits cost from $8 ($40) up." An advertisement in the Standard, Wellington, January, 1938; Schneideman and Sons Limited, branches in seven different cities, read "New cut, suits designed by our London cutter, made to measure, 14 days for completion, prices from $5 15s 6d to $8 15s 6d."

Now the New Zealand pound is worth less than $4.00. Therefore, suits of clothes made to measure of the very high grade New Zealand manufactured woolen cloth cost from $23 up and not $40 up as stated by Mr. Gordon.

Mr. Gordon says if the Labor Party is returned they intend to confiscate all the homes. Oh, yes, and nationalize the women as well, no doubt! New Zealand led the world nearly half a century ago by giving our women workers' equity in their homes, enormously reduced mortgages, old-age pensions of 30s a week, free medical service for all, more equitable distribution of wealth, decreased unemployment over 80 per cent, etc., all of which is the reason they have received a sweeping majority — legislation for the majority and not for a small minority of parasites, money-lenders, etc. Australians think that the sterling block purposely push down the value of their currencies so that New Zealand and Australian produce can be bought cheaply and as their produce must compete with produce from the Argentine and the Scandinavian countries, where a lower standard of living exists, the prices are easily kept down.

The situation is clearly understood and New Zealand has now voted $5,000,000 sterling to install their own steel mills and incidentally since the Socialist Labor Government came into power there has been an increase of over 600 new factories in New Zealand. Australia is also working in the same direction, i.e., to create more work in their own countries and to help stabilize their currencies. (Over 600 new factories, Mr. Gordon, how come?)

The low value of the New Zealand and Australian pound makes these countries pay stiff prices for their needed articles in England and elsewhere and they are being forced to protect themselves by making their own goods as much as possible. Cables report the New Zealand Socialist Labor Government with 55 members returned (an increase of two seats over last election), with 25 Nationalists in opposition. Evidently the majority are calling for more socialist constructive legislation and like it.

Both countries fully agree with the speech of that famous South African British Imperialist, General Smuts: "The Dominions have even stronger affiliations towards the United States than Great Britain has. There is a community of outlook, of interest and perhaps of ultimate destiny between the Dominion and the United States."

Catholic Youth

A well-attended meeting of the Victoria Catholic Youth Organization was held last evening in the hall of St. Andrew's Cathedral, with the president, Miss Mona Kelpin, in the chair. Msgr. Baker, chaplain of the organization, was also present. It was decided to hold a swimming party at the Crystal Garden on Wednesday, November 2, open to all members and friends. Announcement was also made of a combined social and Hallowe'en dance to be held in the Queen of Peace Hall in Esquimalt on November 3 at 9.45. This will be a united effort of the Catholic Youth Organizations of Oak Bay, Esquimalt and Victoria.

Jack Bellis, diocesan president of the Catholic Youth Organization and vice-president of the Victoria body, reported on his recent trip to Ottawa, where he represented Victoria Catholic youth at the first annual convention of the Catholic Youth Union of Canada. There were over 635 delegates present at the convention, which was the first time that English and French-speaking Catholics

The monthly meeting of the Langford Women's Institute was held Tuesday afternoon. Miss Lucille Malkin, R.N., gave a talk on the Peace River district. The members were asked to support a dental clinic sponsored by the Esquimalt district nursing service. Plans were made for the annual Hallowe'en party to be held next Monday with a supper for the children at 5.30 and moving pictures by Douglas Flintoff at 7. It was also decided to hold a card party on December 1 to aid the Christmas hamper fund. Their regular card party will be held November 16 in the Institute Hall.

Mrs. R. J. Smith gave a report of the conference held in Victoria. A jam shower was held for the Solarium at Mill Bay.

In the Cause of Charity

On Monday next, the present Community Chest Campaign reaches its climax. On that day B Division, led by E. G. Rowbottom and J. V. Johnson, begins a canvass of the business district of Victoria. We know that the business men of Victoria appreciate the real value of the Community Chest and will give it generous support.

On that same day, Monday next, the ladies' division, under the able leadership of Miss Sara Spencer and Mrs. W. P. D. Pemberton, begins a canvass of the residential districts of Greater Victoria. These districts include Victoria and the Municipalities of Oak Bay, Esquimalt and Saanich. The canvass will continue from Monday next, October 31, to Monday, November 7. The ladies of C Division, all of whom have already made personal donations to the Community Chest, will make a house-to-house canvass of this whole area.

Last year the Community Chest of Greater Victoria was an experiment. It has been tried and tested during the past 10 months and has not been found wanting. It has proved that careful organization and efficient administration are as much to be desired in the alleviation of want and need as in any business venture.

During this week the Community Chest brings to you the opportunity to help so far as you can those who are in need and cannot help themselves; also to train the youth of Greater Victoria to become worthy citizens of our City and this great Dominion. It is this opportunity to do good that the Community Chest brings to you this week—next week will be too late.

Surely the giving of the few dollars asked is an investment of which every man and woman must be proud.

We know that you appreciate the great work the ladies of C Division are doing, and will meet them with a hand of welcome. They come but to ask if you have anything to give in the cause of charity.

Bacon and Egg Breakfast Gone

Consumption of Eggs Off 80,000,000 Dozen, Says Delta M.P.P.

The plight of the Fraser Valley farmers was described to the Legislature yesterday afternoon by L. A. Shepherd, C.C.F., Delta, speaking in the Throne Speech debate.

An unholy triangle of no markets, low relief and high taxes was steadily beating down their living standards, he said.

Sixteen years ago eight cans of milk would pay a farmer's municipal taxes for a year. Today it takes 50 cans, he claimed.

He said the income of Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company Limited, $48,000,000 in a year, was almost as much as the 26,000 farmers in the province, and quoted Oliver Goldsmith: "Ill fares the land, to hastening ills a prey, where wealth accumulates and men decay."

The reduction in agricultural markets could be seen in shrinking consumption, he said. "Bacon and eggs have been almost driven from the breakfast table of this country," he said, in telling how egg consumption had dropped 80,000,000 dozen.

The large spread between producer and consumer was one of the big reasons, he argued, declaring there was as much as 500 per cent spread on some products.

It cost more in some cases to deliver a quart of milk in Vancouver than for the farmer to produce the milk and deliver it to the dairy. The present duplication of delivery costs the farmers of the Fraser Valley $500,000 a year, he said.

WARNING ON IMMIGRATION Warning against a vast immigration scheme, he said: "Make our own people self-supporting before we bring in any more. Does Sir Henry Page Croft want us to have a peasant population?"

He objected to actions of government relief officials, quoting one investigator's report as stating: "This man is a radical. He needs a job and a hard one."

He charged that the Indians in the Agassiz hop fields in the fall lived under appalling conditions. Yet, he added, their product goes into a beverage used by "some human beings."

Bringing the public utility question into the debate for the first time, he attacked the high cost of rural pole line extensions in British Columbia. In neighboring Washington State the Puget Sound Power and Light Company charged $800 a mile for these extensions, while the B.C. Electric charged $1,510 a mile in British Columbia, although they were valued at $110 a mile for taxation purposes.

OAK BAY COUNCIL BRIEFS

Slow signs were ordered placed on Transit Road at the intersection of Central Avenue by the Oak Bay Council at a meeting yesterday evening.

Reeve R. R. Taylor and Councillors Len Woodhouse and P. Vernon Jackson will sit as a court of revision on the municipal voters' list in the municipal hall on the afternoon of November 10 at 5.10.

Councillor William Ellis and R. F. Blandy, municipal clerk, were appointed to represent the council at meetings in connection with the isolation hospital.

The council passed a motion of sympathy to Mrs. John Syme, widow of the late Police Chief Syme. Reeve Taylor spoke of the former chief's 26 years of wonderful service to the municipality.

Extensive road improvement work, including the widening of two bends on Beach Drive, was listed in a monthly report submitted by Councillor Ellis as chairman of the works committee. The report said the Adams grader had been used extensively and had proved invaluable. Work projected for the next month included further widening and surface draining on Beach Drive and surface draining on Foul Bay Road and Tomlin Street.

METROPOLITAN Y.P.S.

At the meeting of the Metropolitan Young People's Society, Mr. A. Hall was the speaker, illustrating his topic with many interesting references from the Bible. After the devotional period, the 40 members present adjourned for the business session, president L. Cannon presiding. George Davis reported on the interdenominational sing-song at the Y.M.C.A.; Mun Hope reported on the forthcoming Lower Island Congress of United Y.P.S. to be held the weekend of November 5 and 6 at the Metropolitan Church schoolroom. Gordon Robinson moved that a birthday card be sent to John Cleator, a former member of the society, who is now in Palestine with the air force. Miss Hope Large conducted recreational games. The next meeting will be held in the church hall, with all groups meeting together.

All the world and his wife are supporting the Chest.

Arsenal Will Engage Bolton

Sports Mirror

By PETE SALLAWAY

IT BEGINS TO LOOK like that much-advertised horse race between the great War Admiral and the equally great Seabiscuit is at last going to come off. The match race is set for Tuesday at the famous Pimlico track and the purse is $15,000. A paltry sum when it is remembered the thoroughbreds were previously set to meet with a plum of $100,000 at stake.

However, the two respective owners of these world-famous nags have got together and laid aside a little side bet that will help to boost the size of the stakes. Samuel D. Riddle, in whose stable War Admiral munches his oats, and Charles S. Howard who lays out the money to buy the hay for the Biscuit, are said to have made a wager something in excess of $15,000.

Even with the side bet the total purse is no great shakes considering the fact that Howard's Seabiscuit has already earned $331,405 and War Admiral, a year younger than the Biscuit, has earned Riddle a trifle more than a quarter of a million dollars. So the fat bet the two gentlemen have made on their respective charges is really money the two horses have earned. Furthermore, both Howard and Riddle could dig up a sizeable wager without having to place a mortgage on the old home.

The experts are at a loss to explain just why the two horses are going to run for $15,000 when the price for this race, which has failed to materialize in the past, has always been 100 grand. That was the purse offered at Belmont Park last Memorial Day when the race was scratched at the last minute. It took one of the youngest turfmens of them all, Alfred Vanderbilt, to get the sporting event at a cut-rate price.

As long as hockey is played the name of Fred (Cyclone) Taylor will be remembered, but the man who set the yardstick years ago for speed and for being spectacular on the ice is modest enough today to believe professional hockey's new generation would not recall him.

The old-time star, now president of a new four-team coast circuit which includes Portland, Vancouver, Spokane and Seattle, was at the Montreal Forum this week and watched the tail-end of a workout by Montreal's National Hockey League Canadiens. Taylor was impressed by their speed and the work of the defencemen. Afterward, however, he was in the dressing-room with manager Cecil Hart, who wanted to introduce him to several of the players. But the Cyclone, who remained only a few minutes, declined, with the remark: "I don't think any of the younger generation of hockey players would remember me."

Whenever hockey players discuss the fastest players of all-time, invariably the talk boils down to Taylor and the late Howie Morenz. Both played in different eras and both stood shoulders above the pack.

As early as 1905, Taylor was a brilliant star with Portland Lakes, Michigan. He played on Ottawa's Stanley Cup winning team of 1909 and the almost legendary Renfrew Millionaires in 1910 and 1911. Then he moved to Vancouver, where he hit his peak. In seven seasons, from 1912 to 1919, he scored 148 goals in 126 games. He led the old Pacific Coast League in scoring five of those seasons. Frank Patrick, brother of manager Lester Patrick of the New York Rangers and a man who has seen all the stars since the turn of the century, once called Taylor "the greatest player I ever saw."

Match Is Feature of English Football Card Tomorrow

LONDON—Members of the Royal Family are usually present at the English Cup final each year, but it is only on rare occasions that the King attends a league football match and then a London contest is chosen. Norwich will be honored tomorrow when Norwich City and Millwall—lesser lights of the soccer world—play a second division encounter.

After attending a civic function, His Majesty will be a spectator at the match at Carrow Road.

Apart from that encounter, chief interest at the week-end lies in the Bolton Wanderers-Arsenal tilt. A crowd of 60,000 is expected at the Lancashire club's enclosure.

Everton and Derby County, joint leaders of the first division with 18 points each, play on foreign soil. The toffee makers are confident of victory against Leicester City, but Derby is up against a harder proposition in Chelsea.

Without a suitable deputy for Hodgson, South African centre forward injured last Saturday, Leeds United hopes to sign a new leader in time for the match with Portsmouth. If the Yorkshire club is unsuccessful, Ainsley, former Sunderland inside right, will line up in the centre position. Aston Villa, after losing five of the last six possible points, is revising its attack against its neighboring rivals, Birmingham.

Fulham, leader of the second division, is away to Plymouth Argyle. The Londoners have a two-point margin over Blackburn Rovers in the league table.

In the third division's southern section, Newport County, pace-maker, crosses the border to play Bristol Rovers, who won the corresponding match last year, 2 to 0. Barnsley and Crewe Alexandra are bracketed in the northern loop's top berth, and the meeting of the clubs on the former's ground will attract a big crowd. The home team is favored to win.

SCOTTISH LEAGUE

GLASGOW—Unbeaten since September 24, Hearts of Midlothian looms as a serious contender for championship honors in Scottish football. The team from the Scottish capital offers a definite challenge to Celtic and Rangers, at present joint leaders of the first division by a scant one-point margin.

The Celts lost ground last week as the result of a scoreless draw at Partick, and Rangers, beaten 3 to 1 at Kilmarnock, have obtained only one point from their last two away games. Hearts, bracketed in third place with Queen of South, may be expected to take advantage of the slightest slip by the pace-setting squads.

Runners-up to Celtic last season, the fast-improving Hearts play Queen's Park tomorrow, and although the famous amateurs are fighting desperately to get out of the league's danger zone, they are unlikely to improve their position at the expense of the Edinburgh eleven.

Celtic and Rangers are favored to win home matches against Third Lanark and Raith Rovers, respectively. The light blues should experience no difficulty, but Third Lanark will provide tough opposition for the Celts, last season the teams drawing 1 to 1 in the corresponding match.

Unless more power can be injected into Queen of the South's attack, the Dumfries squad will find it hard to keep up with the championship contenders. The Palmerston Park club, which entertains Kilmarnock at the week-end, has scored only 27 goals, while its defence has been pierced 27 times.

One of the outstanding tussles tomorrow brings Aberdeen and Clyde together on the former's ground at Pittodrie Park. The Dons, touched 5 to 2 by Hearts a week ago, will find Clyde's rock-line defence hard to penetrate. Critics are predicting a draw.

Riders vs. Bombers

WINNIPEG (CP)—Winnipeg is seething with football interest today on the eve of the Western Interprovincial Football Union's semifinal playoff game between Winnipeg Blue Bombers and Regina Roughriders here tomorrow afternoon.

Osborne Stadium, scene of the sudden death game which sends the winner against Calgary Bronks in the western final, has been completely sold out for four days. About 6,300 fans will be there.

Coach Reg Threlfall waxed little enthusiasm for his Blue Bombers. Aside from announcing he probably would start the same line-up that trampled Regina 19 to 6 here last Saturday, the bespectacled mentor said nothing.

Winnipeg are expected to be without the service of inside Herb Peschel, injured in an early season game, and halfbacks Wayne Sheley and Eddie James. Sheley has a severe hip injury and James has been out of Edmonton hospital only a week after injuries in a game with Eskimos two weeks ago.

The plague of the prairies, blonde Fritz Hanson, will be in there, however. Many Winnipeg observers are convinced Firtzie, alone, will spell the difference between defeat and victory. Quarterback Art Stevenson is expected to return after nearly a month's absence.

Following the match, lunch and prizes were presented by Mrs. F. J. Nichol, sponsor of the tourney. After the prizegiving the caddies moved a vote of thanks to their patron and to the Colwood Club for the use of the course.

Charlie Heggie is the new holder of the city caddies golf championship. In the annual 18-hole handicap tournament held yesterday at the Colwood Club young Heggie posted a net card of 68.

Bill McColl was the low gross scorer with a smart 78. W. Bird, from the Uplands, took the prize for the low visitor.

BICYCLE TRACK NEARS COMPLETION—If the present progress is continued Victoria's bike riders will be trying out their fine new track located on Douglas Street, near Burnside, two weeks from tomorrow. The above picture gives one a good idea of just what the new oval will look like. However, there is still plenty of work to be done. Art Butler, who is supervising the construction of the track, stated today there was still about 25 miles of B.C. hemlock to be laid for the racing surface and about one ton of nails driven to hold down that timber. The track will be 11 laps to the mile.

First Division Soccer Battles

Victoria West Will Oppose Garrison in Feature Tomorrow

Tomorrow's first division soccer matches will see the Victoria West, league champions, go up against the Garrison at the Athletic Park and Esquimalt oppose the Saanich Thistles at Heywood Avenue. Both matches get under way at 3.

In order to keep their place at the top of the standings the Wests must win. In their opening match last week they blanked the Thistles 4 to 0. The Garrison won their first game of the season from the Thistles and then dropped a decision to Esquimalt last week.

The match at Heywood should see Esquimalt win with ease, although the youthful Thistles showed improvement last week over their initial appearance.

Only two intermediate league matches will be played, the match scheduled between the Young Liberals and Longshoremen having been called off. Caveys will meet the Copperage at Central Park and the Navy will oppose the Camerons at Beacon Hill. Play will start at 2:30.

Teams follow:
Victoria West—T. Restall, Wright, R. Bell, Smith, C. Restall, R. Barnes, S. Smith, N. Sage, H. Sage, Morgan and G. Barnes.

Garrison—Elliott, Wilkinson, Cook, Stewart, Thompson, J. Watt, H. Bishard, Worswick, J. Bishard, Edwards and McAllister. Esquimalt—Laird, J. Watt, Moody, E. Barnswell, Halkett, Cooper, G. Bell, S. Stewart, J. Watt, J. Stewart and G. Payne.

Caveys—J. Saunders, A. Blake, more, S. Ball, B. Carson, J. Cullin, H. Rowell, R. Bland, L. McCorkall, and J. Gibbeson.

Battle For Lead

Oak Bay Wanderers and J.B.A.A. Meet in Feature Rugby Clash Tomorrow; Garrison Make Debut

The rugby spotlight will be focused on the upper pitch at Macdonald Park tomorrow afternoon, when Oak Bay Wanderers and J.B.A.A., the two most formidable rugged machines in the senior loop, lock horns in battle for the leadership of that division.

Winners by handsome margins in opening games last week, these two clubs are now resting in the first berth of the Barnard Cup, city championship race. A close, hotly-contested engagement is predicted as the clubs are well balanced.

Rival managers will trot out their best stock, and there is confidence of victory in both camps. On the lower pitch at the James Bay enclosure, Garrison will go up against Canadian Scottish for their first start of the season. Reports from Work Point indicate that the Tommies will have a fairly strong team. A number of senior players will be in their line-up.

A pair of intermediate games are listed. Coach Mickey Murray's leading Oak Bay Wanderers fifteen will take on Navy Blues at Work Point, while the Navy Whites and Canadian Scottish will battle at Admirals Road. All games start at 3.

Line-ups follow:
Oak Bay Wanderers (Senior)—Acland, Ley, Guelph, Doswell, Stephens, Gornall, Colthurst, Anderson, G. Murdoch, B. Murdoch, Roberts, Barber, Brown, Carney, Grogan and Forbes.

J.B.A.A.—Mair, Pettierew, Bray, Andrews, B. Anderson, Leighton, Dalzell, Simpson, Langdon, Brown, Halkett, Bridge, Smith, C. Doherty and Ferguson. Garrison—Featherstone, Lovell, Martin, Hatch, Green, Hall, Pocock, Lee, Buxton, "Dimpy" Wood, Venus, York, P. J. Ford, Hipwood, Stephen, D. Wood, Cockrill and B. Ford.

Canadian Scottish (Intermediates)—Bishop, Jones, Seats, Martin, Mair, McKim, Williams, Holmes, Oddy, McDonald, Clark, son, Garrison, Malcolm, Sorenson, Holland and Luxton. Players are asked to meet at the Armories at 2.

Three New Players to Strengthen Americans

Hockey Gossip

It may be that Detroit Red Wings have drawn the year's best group of young amateur hockey players. At any rate the Wings are sending to their International-American League farm at Pittsburgh a big group of able youngsters who, in their first season as professionals, are subject to an immediate summons to the National League.

When Pittsburgh defeated the Red Wings, 5 to 2, in an exhibition at Detroit last night, the newcomers scored all Hornets' goals. Gus Giesbrecht got two and Kenny Kilrea, brother of the Red Wing's Hec Kilrea, contributed a goal and two assists. Both played with Pontiac of the Michigan-Ontario Amateur League last winter.

Ayd Abel and Conny Brown, centres from Melville, Sask., and Cornwall, Ont., were impressive again in the Pittsburgh line-up, and Pete Bessone, who came from Pontiac to play defence for the Red Wings in the middle of the last campaign, scored one of their goals.

The exhibition schedule will be in full swing tomorrow night, when Chicago Black Hawks play Cleveland Barons of the International-American League at Cleveland. Toronto Maple Leafs will split the 31 candidates for places on the N.H.L. team, and the Syracuse farm into two teams for an exhibition night that will open a new arena at Owen Sound, Ont.

Johnny Gottselig led a blue squad to a 5 to 4 victory over a red squad in Black Hawks' camp at Champaign, Ill., yesterday. He scored two goals, the same number as Doc Romnes of the Reds, while Joffre Desilets just about clinched the right wing spot on the Hawk third forward line by giving two assists.

Don Metz, brother of Nick Metz of the Leafs, banged in four goals in practice yesterday to step a little closer to a contract with Toronto. Nick and Murphy Chamberlain, other members of Don's line, scored once each to highlight the Leafs' two practice contests, while Syl Apps counted twice.

Montreal Canadiens will play their Int-Am farm club, New Haven Eagles, in a workout to-night at Cornwall, Ont. Canadiens play Springfield Indians of the Int-Am at Shawinigan Falls, Que., Sunday and at Quebec Tuesday.

New York Americans, with a penchant for buying veterans from other organizations, got one of the best when they nabbed Leroy Goldsworthy from Boston. The stylish wingman scored twice last night, though Americans were beaten by New York Rangers for the fourth straight time, 8 to 4, at Edmonton.

It appears Roy Conacher, brother of two of the greatest players in National League history, will get a place with Boston Bruins in his first year as a pro. Manager Art Ross said when he sent Goldsworthy and Art Jackson to the Americans that Conacher was one of four amateurs in line for a couple of forward-line positions. Yesterday he farmed out Terry Reardon and Harry Frost to Hershey.

Conacher likely will line up on a string with Mel Hill, up from Providence, and Pat McReavy, who played with the great Copper Cliff, Ont., junior team two seasons back. Sent to Hershey with Reardon and Frost was Red Hamill, who played with McReavy at Copper Cliff and with Hill at Providence last winter. Goalie Al Brimsek and defencemen Jack Crawford and Johnny Shewchuck, another Copper Cliff product, went to Providence last night.

Hoop Results

In city league basketball games played at the High School gym last night Buckles defeated the Bees 27 to 25, and the Ramblers turned back Caveys 36 to 28 in intermediate A boys' games, and West Road nosed out the Crescents 32 to 30 in a senior B men's engagement.

Goldsworthy Should Be Valued Aid

New York Hockey Club Buys Forward From Boston

SASKATOON (CP)—Acquisition of two forwards and a young defenceman to blend with his "keep punching" veterans has made Manager Mervyn (Red) Dutton confident his New York Americans will be "much stronger" in the coming National Hockey League campaign.

"We'll give any team in the league all they can handle," he said today.

The vibrant manager who considers wasting time a cardinal sin, already has worked the two new forwards in the A's line-up. Art Jackson, 22, brother of the famous "Busher," of Toronto Maple Leaf fame, and youngest player to join the star-spangled squad since Dave Schirner reported four seasons ago, will replace the injured Lorne Carr at right wing on the first-string line with Art Chapman and Schirner.

Leroy Goldsworthy, who learned his hockey in Edmonton, and who is only 31, in spite of nine years' big league service, will flank Red Beattie on the third line, with Johnny Sorrell holding down the other wing. Both forwards were acquired from Boston Bruins—Jackson on option for one season and Goldsworthy in an outright purchase. The other newcomer to the roster is Willie Field of Trail, B.C., the husky defenceman, last with Seattle of the Pacific Coast League, will pair with Johnny Gallagher. The other backbone combination consists of the Amerks' heavy-duty standbys, Little Al Murray and big Joe Jerwig. Earl Robertson, so vital a factor in carrying the Amerks to last season's Stanley Cup semi-finals, again will be in goal.

SECOND LINE

The second-string forward line also remains unchanged, with veteran Nels Stewart as centre for Tommy Anderson and Eddie Wiseman. Hooley Smith, playmaker last year for Sorrell and Beattie, will be the utility man, filling in our attack or defence.

Dutton admits that it will take players like Stewart, Chapman, Sorrell and Beattie some time to work into condition. "But once (Turn to Page 17, Col. 4)

Freda Utley To Speak Here

Noted Writer Was Barred in Japan En Route to Victoria

Freda Utley, well-known writer and lecturer, who was barred from landing in Japan because of her sensational book, "Japan's Feet of Clay," will reach Victoria on Ss. Empress of Canada next Wednesday to commence a lecture tour of Canada and the United States.

The noted author will open her lecture tour in this city, speaking at the Chamber of Commerce Wednesday evening under the auspices of the Democratic Book Club.

Miss Utley comes here direct from China, where she has been war correspondent on the Yangtze front.

She obtained interviews with prominent Chinese, including Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, H. H. Kung, T. V. Soong, Mao Tse-tung and Chou En-lai.

For years Miss Utley has been known as an expert on the economic development of Japan. Her visit to China gives her first-hand knowledge of the existing situation in the undeclared war theatre.

This, against the background of travel in Europe, particularly Soviet Russia, enables her to interpret the Far Eastern conflict with breadth and perspective which comes only as a result of wide international experience.

What Miss Utley has to say will be of vital interest to those concerned with Canada's relation to world peace, and in particular to the peace of the Pacific.

Miss Utley was correspondent for the Manchester Guardian in Japan in 1928-29. Her most recent book is "Japan's Gamble in China," published this year.

Logger Killed Near Alert Bay

Ernest Farraro, a logger, was killed in a logging accident at the La Farr camp, north of Alert Bay, yesterday, according to a report to divisional headquarters of the B.C. Police here today. Details of the accident were not given. An inquest will be held at Alert Bay Saturday.

Notes of the Legislature

The House on Monday will hear from Rolf W. Bruhn, the former Tolmie cabinet minister, now an Independent, give his explanation of why he has returned to the Conservative fold under Mr. Maitland's leadership. Mr. Bruhn is expected to adjourn the debate this afternoon and speak first Monday afternoon.

Questions began piling on the order paper today. The government is queried by the opposition on numerous acts of recent years, including relief camps, the P.G.E. Railway, finances and other subjects.

E. V. Finland, Conservative, Esquimalt, raises the textbook question, asking the Minister of Education for a complete list of the books that public school pupils have to buy.

E. E. Winch, C.C.F., Burnaby, asks for a full statistical return on the operations of Oakalla prison farm, including details of schemes for occupational training and education of prisoners.

In a notice of motion Mr. Winch proposes that special treatment and training be arranged for underprivileged children in the schools. He quotes the last schools' medical report that there were 675 underprivileged or retarded children in the schools, exclusive of 450 in special classes in Vancouver.

That there is to be no love lost between the Conservatives under their new leadership and the C.C.F. branch of the opposition was indicated yesterday when R. L. Maitland, K.C., referred to the C.C.F. as the "melodramatic party."

The Legislative Press Gallery yesterday elected its dean, W. Bruce Hutchison, as president for the year, with C. F. Moriarty of the Canadian Press as secretary-treasurer. Torchy Anderson and John Shaw of the Vancouver Province were admitted to membership.

O. H. Nelson of the Victoria Colonist, who was in the Press Gallery yesterday, first reported proceedings of the Legislature 38 years ago.

L. A. Shepherd of Delta, the first C.C.F. member in the debate, found conditions pretty bad in the farming districts but this

Report Details B.C. Police Work

Annual Statement on Provincial Force Tells Of Broadening Work

Evidence of the broadening sphere of the work of the British Columbia Provincial Police is contained in the annual report of Col. J. H. McMullin, commissioner, who this year is completing his final term in that office.

The report covers complete operations of the department during 1937.

Work of the criminal investigation branch is increasing rapidly, the report states, greater demands being made upon the records. So much benefit was obtained from the photographs sent out to selected district headquarters that it was necessary to increase distribution, with a resultant need for an increase in staff personnel.

Outstanding cases investigated by the department during the year are detailed, while statistics compiled by the motor record branch on registrations for the year and accident causes are also given.

Total strength of the force at the end of last year was 12 of 100% and 323 N.C.O.'s and men. These totals did not include special constables used during the year.

DELAWARE WATER GAP, Pa. (AP)—Thirty-six members of the Canadian choir of Brantford, Ont., escaped unharmful early today when a bus caught fire while climbing a steep grade near here. Most of the singers were asleep when the fire started. The choir was en route to New York.

An interesting talk on the Fiji Islands by C. F. Barker was heard by the Kinsmen Club last night at its regular dinner meeting in Spencer's dining-room. Herbert Sabiston presided and club members decided the next meeting would take the form of a mystery evening.

The Chest is democracy in action. It did not stop him from opening his remarks with a compliment to the government's new Department of Trade and Industry which he said he found most courteous and co-operative.

TOWN TOPICS

The Provincial Recreation Centre will hold its first dance of the season in the Crystal Garden tonight at 9.

A smoking concert will be held in the clubrooms of British Imperial Comrades, Courtney Street, on Saturday evening at 8.30.

Revised clauses in the proposed superannuation scheme for municipal employees in British Columbia were studied today at the City Hall. A report on the changes from the original draft is expected shortly.

Convicted on a charge of driving dangerously, Frederick Donovan was fined $20 or five days imprisonment by Magistrate Hall in the City Police Court this morning. The charge was the result of an accident on the Gorge Road at Jutland, when Donovan's truck was in collision with a car driven by Miss Doreen Ashburnham.

Plans for the conversion of three dwellings into apartment and duplex buildings were approved by the zoning board of appeal at its meeting in the City Hall yesterday afternoon. They covered projects by Peter Reid at 1012 Oliphant Street, Mrs. Jessie Duncan at 1905 Davie Street, and Miss Gertrude Scott at 1008 Carberry Gardens.

A large gathering of members of the United Services Institution met in the Armory on Wednesday evening to hear a lecture by Major Murchie, R.C.A., on "Coast Defence." His address covered the general principles governing the selection of sites for fixed defences and the nature of attacks to which different types of defended areas may be subjected.

Afterwards the O.C. and officers of the 5th B.C. Coast Brigade R.C.A. were hosts to the members of the institution. Thanks to Major Murchie were voiced by Lieut.-Col. V. McKenna, M.C.

Damages amounting to $2,000 were awarded Caroline A. Wade by Mr. Justice Fisher in a Supreme Court judgment handed down yesterday following hearing of her claim for damages as the result of injuries she sustained when struck by a car driven by Charles Hannah on Pandora Avenue, west of the Cook Street intersection on March 10. Mr. Justice Fisher found the car driver 75 per cent negligent and the pedestrian 25 per cent at fault. A claim for special damages, amounting to $156, was disallowed.

Island's Broom Useful Memorial

J. B. Munro Tells Insurance Men of Early Days Around Victoria

The broom on southern Vancouver Island benefits the humanity that curses it as a pest and is also a living memorial to one of the most unusual of the island's pioneers, J. B. Munro, deputy Minister of Agriculture, told the Life Underwriters' Association at a luncheon in Terry's today.

The broom, he said, was useful as well as beautiful. Related to the alfalfa mentioned in the Legislature by Louis LeBourdais, it gathered free nitrogen from the air and stored it in the soil.

The plant was introduced to Vancouver Island by Captain W. Colquhoun Grant, a former officer of the Scots Greys who came out in 1869 with his personal piper, a Gaelic school teacher and 10 farm hands and took up 1,000 acres at Sooke. In 1850 or 1851, he visited a friend in the Sandwich Islands (now Hawaii) and obtained six seeds of broom, which had been brought from Scotland. From those seeds all the broom growing on the Pacific Northwest was derived.

Mr. Munro told something of the life insurance business in the Victoria of more than 50 years ago. There were in 1883 four life insurance agencies, as against 50 liquor stores, not counting groceries stores which also sold liquor, he said. The four were H. F. Heisterman, Robert Ward, Hall and Goepel and F. L. Tuckfield. The last represented the Universal Benefvolent Association of California for unmarried persons, which paid its policyholders $2,000 or $3,000 on marriage and soon went out of business.

In those days prospects were suspicious of any man who could look prosperous out of selling insurance alone, so with most of the companies underwriting was a sideline. Ward sold dynamite, detonators and fuse as well as policies, and had a nice liquor business also. Hall was in the sealing business and Tuckfield sold red ink and rubber stamps.

Insurance was hazardous business in those days, because the new colony had so many forms of sudden death, on the water, in the forests and in the mines. He urged the insurance men to look through Pioneer Square and Ross Bay Cemetery and notice the early ages at which most of the pioneers died.

Mr. Munro's address was filled with the names of the first settlers: Staines, who was the Anglican preacher, started the hog industry on the island, fought the Hudson's Bay Company and died in a shipwreck off Flattery; Douglas, Todd, Finlayson, Wark, Clouston, Tolmie, Helmecken, Yale, Yates and the rest.

He suggested that some club start in Victoria the English practice of having a Boy Scout troop or some other body of young people beat the bounds of the old estates each year, so that their corner posts be not forgotten.

Mr. Munro was introduced by W. C. Hudson and thanked by Lieut.-Colonel Lorne Ross.

HUNTERS HAVE CLOSE CALL

Two Victoria hunters, William G. Scott, 1603 Morrison Street, and William Sylvester, 732 Fort Street, narrowly escaped serious injury in a collision with a logging trailer pole on the Island Highway near Langford Crossing late yesterday afternoon.

Provincial Police reported the two men were driving toward the city about 5.30 when a pole protruding from the end of a logging truck crashed through the front end of their car and stopped within a few inches of Scott's knee.

Scott was driving the car and Alfred Featt, Langford, was driving the truck.

Police believed the truck was backing out of the yard of a sawmill on the highway when the accident occurred. A deer carried on the front of the car driven by Scott was decapitated and the machine was extensively damaged in the front as the pole drove through alongside the engine block, pushed the dashboard back and shifted the steering wheel.

Police said their escape from injury was miraculous.

Winch Moves No Confidence

The government faced its second test of strength of the session in the Legislature this afternoon when Harold Winch, the C.C.F. whip, moved a no-confidence motion at the end of his address.

Carefully worded in an attempt to get Conservative support, Mr. Winch's motion read:

"That this house is deeply concerned at the continuation of economic chaos in our province, and the increasing abrogation of the rights and civil liberties of our people, due to the failure of the government to inaugurate constructive policies able to cope adequately with unemployed, agricultural, industrial and municipal problems; and regrets that the government still fails to recognize the necessity for fundamental changes in our social and economic organizations."

Yesterday the C.C.F. supported the Conservatives in their want of confidence motion.

Ask Tax Limit In City Raised

Application was made by Mayor Andrew McGavin and D. A. Macdonald, city comptroller-treasurer, to government authorities today for an extension of the time in which the city may levy taxes for general purposes at a rate above 20 mills.

Under section 246 of the Municipal Act the city was given authority during the years 1936, 1937 and 1938 to place its levy as high as 35 mills. Next year, unless special permission is granted, the maximum for general purposes would be reduced again to 20 mills.

Last year the rate for general purposes was 19.843 mills. With the assessment for next year cut considerably, the mayor and city comptroller felt it necessary to secure an extension of the taxable limit and made their representations to the Minister of Municipalities this afternoon.

College to Present Play in February

This play enjoyed a successful run in New York and was recently produced by University of Washington. Mel Hughes will be production manager, while Douglas Worthing will handle publicity.

Arts and Crafts Display Presents Interesting Works for Many Visitors

Since the opening of the Island Arts and Crafts Society 29th annual exhibition on Monday last in the Belmont Building, large groups of visitors have admired work turned out by local artists and craftsmen.

The exhibition will be open until Saturday night. It is being held on the second floor of the Belmont Building.

The oil painting section of the exhibition presents some of the finest pieces of work ever exhibited in this city. In all, there are life-sized portraits, animal pictures, sea pictures, garden scenes, woodland sketches, and Vancouver Island scenes, on exhibit.

Paintings of scenes of various parts of Vancouver Island are especially noteworthy. A scene of Thetis Lake, painted in oil by C. F. Barker, is easily recognized by visitors to that resort. The peacefulness of this picture is contrasted by a work of C. Sheldon-Williams showing the Ss. Snohomish plunging in a heavy sea off the coast, with the waves breaking over her bow.

E. Bainbridge-Smith's painting of Beacon Hill Park with the Olympic Mountains in the background, is also easily recognized, and presents a good blending of color.

"Rough Weather, Mill Bay," by A. E. Wheelton, shows a stormy sea and a dark sky in contrast to another marine picture, "West Arm, Saanich," by the same artist, a lighter and more peaceful scene.

Three small oil works by Thomas Adamson, show delightful scenes in Italy. One shows a showery day in Florence, another a typical canal in Venice, and the third is painted from the Palatine, Rome, looking towards St. Peter's.

In the same section, C. M. Bonner's painting, "Sable Colli," shows the majestic head and bushy mane of a prize animal. In the pastels and black and white section more animal pictures are on display. The collie is once more used as a model here in P. Birley's painting, "Cossack." In pastels can also be seen a family of perky Pekinese and the striking head of a massive Clydesdale, titled "Firmaet," by the same artist.

There are many paintings in both oils and pastels of various flowers and bunches of different flowers, which stand out in delicacy and color.

Life-size portraits and smaller images include the works of such artists as Adelaide Baxter, Jessica Walker, C. Bonner, J. Walker and E. Charlton.

In the water-color section of the exhibition, the display is striking in its delicacy and soft coloring. The paintings here include mountain scenes, snow scenes, flower arrangements, typical fishing towns on British Columbia, one or two portraits, and majestic sailing ships.

In this section are two modern works by Ronald Bladen, the titles of which are "Lionel Backler" and "Tragic Waters." Both pictures are outstanding in design and interpretation.

'Luckiest Man,' Says Glenn Day

Plane Hit Mountain But He Escaped With Cuts and Sprained Back

(Glenn Day, Spokane and Alaska business man, reached Anchorage last night after 10 days in the wild Rainy Pass country, where he crashed his airplane full speed into a mountain, October 17. Before leaving on the steamer Alaska today for home, he gave the following account of his adventures to the Associated Press.)

By GLENN DAY
(As Told to the Associated Press)
ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—There was a blinding snowstorm and visibility was nil October 17 when my plane hit the mountain going full speed. I feel I'm the luckiest man in the world because all I got were a few minor cuts and sprained back.

When the weather closed in ahead, I couldn't see the mountain range ahead of me. After the plane hit full speed and overturned, I don't know whether I was knocked unconscious. As I remember it, the crash only seemed like another down-draft as it was terrifically rough.

I found myself hanging by my safety belt in the plane. I thought the plane was out of control and I pumped the control stick and gave the engine more gas, but got no response.

I looked out the window and saw a pontoon lying in the snow. Then I knew I had crashed.

The first thing I did was hand-axe my cuts. The snow was coming down like a waterfall. For a week I stayed in the ship awaiting clear weather so I could see which way to walk. I had plenty of food. I've experienced worse hardships on hunting trips for fur.

During the week I saved myself a parka from a canvas cover for the motor, realizing I must keep myself dry. I checked supplies carefully, preparing for a long hike and not knowing how long it would be, nor where to.

One pontoon was only slightly damaged, so I made it into a sled and loaded food, a sleeping bag, rifle and most of the valuable instruments from the plane, some wood from the plane, a can of gasoline and some other things.

Wednesday Larry Larson brought his light cub plane down two miles from me and came to my aid. When we reached the ship we found it mired over the wheels in a marsh and we couldn't budge it. So we packed all my things into the ship and then walked 10 miles to a river bar where Pilot Chet Brown was waiting. He took us to a trap-line cabin overnight and we came to Anchorage yesterday.

No, I don't plan to buy another plane.

ADMIRAL VISITS NOOTKA

H.M.C.S. Nootka, minesweeper built by Yarrows Ltd. at Esquimalt for the federal Department of Defence, will be ready for her steam trials probably within a couple of weeks, it was indicated today at the Esquimalt plant.

The machinery has been installed and mechanics swarm over the vessel alongside the fitting-out wharf where she is being completed for service.

Rear-Admiral Percy W. Nelles, R.C.N., visited the Nootka yesterday to inspect progress and at the same time took the opportunity to look over the Yarrows plant.

The admiral was accompanied by Capt. Victor G. Brodeur, R.C.N., commander-in-charge of the Esquimalt dockyard; Lieut. Commander H. Kingsley, R.C.N., and Engineer-Commander G. L. Stephens, R.C.N.

DISCHARGES GASOLINE

Ms. Aleutian Native was in port today from Seattle to discharge 400,000 gallons of gasoline at the Inner Harbor tanks of the B.C. Fuel Company Ltd., distributors of Texaco Petroleum products. This morning the vessel shifted to the wharf of the Island Tug and Barge Company to load oil drums.

WHALEERS ON WAYS

Getting repairs and overhaul following an arduous whaling season, the steam whalers Brown and Green, of the Consolidated Whaling Corporation, are today hauled out on the marine ways of the Victoria Machinery Depot Ltd.

Several hull plates will be renewed and the vessels will be painted and made ready for next season's operations off the B.C. coast. Other whalers of the fleet will be docked for overhaul during the winter.

In the meantime the little ships' engines are getting the customary annual overhaul at the whaling company's wharf at Point Ellice.

GUNNERY TESTS

Lloyd's Surveyor To Visit City

Dr. S. F. Dorey of London Making Tour of Society's Branches

One of the big men of the marine world, Dr. S. F. Dorey, chief engineer surveyor of Lloyd's Register of Shipping, London, is shortly expected to arrive in the city in the course of an official tour of Lloyd's offices in Canada and the United States.

He served his apprenticeship in the Royal Dockyards, and won a Lloyd's Register scholarship, graduating with a degree of Bachelor of Science from Durham University at Armstrong College, Newcastle-on-Tyne.

During the war he served on H.M.S. Antrim, H.M.S. Swiftsure, H.M.S. Larkspur, H.M.S. Bristol and H.M.S. Champion. He left war service as engineer-lieutenant, and was subsequently appointed engineer lieutenant-commander.

He joined Lloyd's Register, 1919, as engineer surveyor. In 1922 he secured the degree of Master of Science and in 1931 the Institute of Marine Engineers awarded him the Denny gold medal.

Steel and iron, refrigeration, marine engines, steam, oil, gas engines are his everyday playthings. His papers on a score of such subjects are standard works to marine engineers throughout the world.

The two Dominion government minesweepers being completed at Esquimalt and Vancouver are largely responsible for the arrival on the coast late this week of W. Bennett of New York.

Mr. Bennett is on his annual inspection trip, and will be interested in the trials of the two naval craft.

Wheat

WINNIPEG (CP)—Wheat futures prices were relatively steady on the Winnipeg market today on confirmation of frost reports in Argentina. Prices slipped somewhat when United States markets softened on a forecast of rain in winter wheat belts. Values closed 1/4 lower to 1/4 higher, October and November at 58 1/2, December 58 1/2 to 58 and May 62 1/2 cents.

The session opened comparatively active and prices showed firmness for the first time this week. Lack of demand and scattered selling precipitated a decline later.

Overseas houses and exporters offered early support with operations more active than earlier in the week.

Dealings here were made up of local spreading, although some southern houses showed interest. Export business was confined to a few loads.

Rails Are Given Play

NEW YORK (AP)—Railway stocks held the buying play almost exclusively in today's market as recent industrial leaders were shoved to lower levels by shifting profit takers.

Utilities and electrical equipments were in the advancing limelight for a while, after announcement from Washington by the national defence power committee of a huge expansion program adopted by the country's important utility corporations in co-operation with the governmental agency. These stocks, though, quickly lost vitality and, except for a handful, were under water at the close. The opinion was expressed by some analysts the "good news" have been discounted to a certain extent.

In dealings that approximated 1,800,000 shares for the day, steels, motors, rubbers, aircrafts, and specialties found the going a bit too rough for comfort, and with offerings stepping up at the close, losses of fractions to around 2 points predominated.

Europe from 1918 to 1938

10—MUSSOLINI'S "VICTORY"
The war against Ethiopia made the rest of the world speak plainly against Italy. Here was a nation which had gone to war with another country, and was carrying on a plain program of conquest.

A few of Mussolini's "little soldiers." They carry rifles, not popguns.

In the Kellogg-Briand peace pact, the Italian government had promised to give up war, and always to settle things peacefully. This promise had been broken. Still worse, Italy was a member of the League of Nations, and so was Ethiopia. Both nations had given their pledge to behave in a civilized way, and let reason rule. Ethiopia was willing, but Italy wasn't.

What could the League do? It could impose "sanctions." This very thing, it did, in a small way. A list was made of things which could not be sent into Italy, and Italian trade was cut down a great deal.

The list did not include oil, but some members of the League of Nations said this item should be added. "It is not enough for the nations not to let Italy have guns, shrapnel shells and the other things on the list. We should add oil. The Italians do not have a large supply of oil, and if we shut off the trade in it, the war soon will come to an end. They won't be able to run their motor trucks, or airplanes."

"What you say is true," replied others, "but how can we shut off Italy's supply of oil? The United States produces more oil than all the rest of the world, but the United States is not a member of the League of Nations. Members of the League could stop selling oil to Italy, but American companies would supply Italy with all the oil she needs."

So the weeks and months dragged on. Italy was hurt by the loss of trade, but was not hurt enough to cause her to stop the war. The Ethiopians fought as well as they could, with their poor weapons, but Italy won. In May, 1936, Addis Ababa, the Ethiopian capital city, was captured.

That was Mussolini's "victory," but it has brought him little, if any, honor, and a great deal of dishonor. He had expected to obtain riches from the mines of Ethiopia, and it may be that such riches will come in the future, but they have not amounted to much so far. Last fall, an Italian army officer told me Italy had spent far more money on Ethiopia than had come back from the new colony.

HOROSCOPE

Saturday, October 29, 1938
Benefic aspects rule strongly today, according to astrology. This should be one of the rare times when the average man and woman finds that all is well with the world.

The planetary government may stimulate energy and inspire activity. Young men and women should benefit under this sway, which is believed to implant high ambitions.

Good luck should attend partnership agreements or leases signed under this direction of the stars. It is wise to delay contracts with professional women, however.

Aged persons will experience depressing conditions ignoring their past achievements, the seers predict.

If the stars are rightly read, dictators are now at the zenith of their power and must experience rapid decline of support.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of varied luck. For the young, love affairs may be uncertain.

Children born on this day probably will be fond of secret planning and may be given to intrigue. These subjects of Scorpio usually are exceedingly intelligent.

"I want a rug for his den. Have you one about the color of cigar ashes and beer?"

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—My lover and I are both married and separated from our mates. We have been living together for four years. He seems to love me, and I love him so much that when I am away from him I just seem dead, but when I suggest to him that we both get divorces and marry he goes up in the air, saying: "We are just as good as married. What's the use of going through all that?" Don't you think that if he really cared for me he would marry me to stop gossip about us? We have lost all of our friends. His insurance is made out to his wife and his family, so if anything would happen to him I would be utterly penniless. The worry of all of this is killing me. What shall I do? Go on hoping he will change his mind and marry me, or leave him and try to start anew a life that is so muddled up?
DESPONDENT.

Answer: Surely there is nothing more pathetic in the world than the optimism of women and the way they can befooled themselves into thinking that the thing they want to happen is bound to happen when every probability is against it. The angels in heaven must weep over the poor, pitiful girls who wear out their youth in hoping, and praying that the men they have set their hearts upon and who have never noticed them will by some miracle fall passionately in love with them, and over the neglected wives who hope against hope that the husbands who have tired of them and forsaken them will come back to them.

And, most of all, the angels must weep over the poor, deluded women who have thrown away everything for love and who go on hoping that they can persuade the men for whom they have sacrificed so much to marry them.

You are one of these victims of women's fatal optimism, and the sooner you rouse yourself up from your pipe dream and face reality, the better for you. Evidently your lover does not intend to marry you and never intended to do so, or else he would have taken steps long ago to legalize your relationship.

The man who persuades a woman to enter into a liaison with him, holding out a vague some-day marriage prospect to her, shows by that very act that he regards the affair as merely temporary; that he has it in his mind at the time to leave her when he gets tired of her, and that he does not propose to give her any hold upon him or his property. Otherwise he would marry her honestly and openly, and give her a decent place in society.

The longer you stay with this man who refuses to marry you or make any provision for you, the worse off you will be when he leaves you. You will be wise to try to make over your life if you can.
DOROTHY DIX.

HERO PILOT—Discovering that the right wing and motor of the passenger plane he had just taken out of Montgomery, Ala., were in flames, John David Hissong, above, Eastern Airlines pilot, brought his burning ship down in a field with only moonlight to aid him. By this feat, Hissong saved 14 lives, including his own.

BRITISH FLAG ON SAN JUAN ISLAND—Major J. Gordon Smith of the British Columbia Government's tourist bureau is shown in the above picture as he raised a Union Jack at the English Camp at Garrison Bay, San Juan Island, during the island's celebration of the 66th anniversary of its award to the United States in an arbitration decision given by Emperor Wilhelm I of Germany in 1872. See story on Page 17.

TELLS 'SECRETS'—Nazis were referring to Czechoslovakia "as our next objective" three months ago testimony of Guenther Gustave Rumrich, pictured in the witness stand, revealed in the sensational New York trial of three suspected Nazi spies. Rumrich, one in the Nazi espionage service himself, is the government's star witness against his former colleagues in the spy syndicate.

DUNES DRAGGED FOR VICTIMS OF TEXAS' "ALLIGATOR" MAN—The hunt for victims of "bluebeard" Joe Ball goes on as Texas Rangers use highway department equipment, as pictured above, to search the sand dunes near Ingleside, Tex. Parts of the bodies of two of the roadhouse proprietor's victims already have been found in these dunes. Ball killed himself after he was questioned by police concerning disappearance of several women employees over a six-year period.

RT. HON. SIR ROBERT BORDEN

Exhibited for a week in the galleries of the Montreal Art Association are the two portraits shown of Rt. Hon. Sir Robert Borden, wartime Premier of Canada, and of General Sir Arthur Currie, wartime commander of the Canadian military forces. Both portraits are loaned by E. Hodgson Smart, their painter, who is in Montreal on a visit. Mr.

GENERAL SIR ARTHUR CURRIE

Smart is believed to have painted Sir Arthur Currie either during the Great War or shortly after, while his portrait of Sir Robert Borden was made a few years later. Mr. Smart has painted portraits of a number of wartime leaders, including Marshal Foch and Newton Baker, U.S. Secretary of the Navy.

PAGEANTRY OF LORD MAYOR'S ELECTION RE-ENACTED—In that unique mixture of old and new which goes to make up London, one of the most colorful survivals of mediaeval days is the institution of the Lord Mayor. From his election, his official life is shaped by hoary precedent, and brightened by ceremonial and dress which go to make up a drama of which visitor and resident alike never tire. Here are shown the incoming Lord Mayor Sir Frank Bowater (right), and his predecessor, Sir Harry Twyford, attended by three of their retainers after the rite of the election a few days ago.

BRITISH HIGH COMMISSIONER WELCOMED IN OTTAWA—Newly appointed to fill the post vacated by the transfer of Sir Francis Floud, Sir Gerald Campbell has arrived in the capital. Premier Mackenzie King was among the gathering at the railway station to welcome Sir Gerald and family. In the picture are seen (left to right) Miss Campbell, the Prime Minister, Lady Campbell and the High Commissioner.

DEATH IN THE FIELD—The cruel discipline of war—marching, fighting, dying—leaves little time for even the simpler spiritual needs of man. But in Honan province of China, far from home, country and family, Japanese soldiers pause before a funeral pyre, foreground, to pay respect to fallen comrades. A Buddhist priest, right, officiates.

TRYING TO KEEP GAY—Back home in Tokio, high-stepping entertainers like those pictured in this strikingly American "jitter-bug" dance routine do their best to keep the Japanese people cheerful. In entertainment styles, as in warfare, the Japanese respond quickly to western patterns. This picture was taken in a Tokio night club.
